Jordan Accuses Israeli Of New Raid

By The Associated Press

Arab-Israeli hostility renewed violence in the Middle East today while, in New York, U.N. Security Council condemnation of Israel for its commando attack on Beirut's International Airport appeared imminent.

Jordan announced three Israeli helicopters, escorted by two jet fighters, machine-gunned a Jordanian security police car and set it afire on a desert road between Gharan and the port of Aqaba.

A spokesman said the fate of the five persons in the car was not immediately determined.

Israel announced saboteurs from Jordan had rained 19 mortar shells shortly after midnight on a civilian target, its nature unspecified, near Eilat. At Tel Aviv spokesmen said there were no casualties.

Arab Woman Killed

The Israeli army reported Israeli troops accidentally killed an Arab woman and wounded three other bystanders slightly in shooting down a suspicious-looking Arab who ran when a patrol accosted him near Abraham's Tomb, in occupied Hebron. The suspect died of wounds.

Israel's defense of its operations against Arab terrorism brought the Vatican under fire for an expression of grief Pope Paul VI sent to Lebanon over the commando attack on Beirut's airport.

The Israeli minister of religion, Zerah Warhaftig, lashed out at the Roman Catholic pontiff for dispatching his message Monday "while the Vatican turned a blind eye to the terrorist attack on our airliner at Athens," which prompted the reprisal.

Pope Paul had told Lebanon's president, Charles Helou: "We highly deplore violent acts, coming from wherever they come, that cannot but aggravate an already tense situation."

U.N. Action Due

Hurls Change At Vatican

Addressing a Jerusalem rally in memory of Nazi victims, Warhaftig charged that the Vatican always turned a blind eye to persecution of the Jews.

"Pope Paul's voice was not heard when Arab terrorists killed innocent Jews (with a bomb) in the Mahaneh Yehuda market place in Jerusalem," he said.

"Nor was the voice of his predecessor (Pope Pius XII) heard during the Nazi holocaust, when millions of Jews were killed."

Meanwhile, an Israeli elder statesman, David Ben-Gurion, declared he favored the death penalty for captured Arab guerrillas.

The 82-year-old former prime minister said in a newspaper article that Israeli prison conditions "are too good for the saboteurs ... and encourage Arab youth to join terrorist organizations."

An internal political crisis threatened Lebanon. Angry demands for the resignation of the government were voiced in a stormy session of Parliament in Beirut. Critics charged the government had failed to take adequate security measures.

Military Under Attack

The military, which failed to offer any significant resistance to the raiders who destroyed 13 planes of Lebanon's civil airlines Saturday night, also came in for scathing attack.

In the Security Council, most members shunned Arab and Soviet demands for strong punitive action against Israel.

Calls for sanctions and denial of landing permits to Israeli planes gained little support Monday night as the 15-nation

Kennedy's Senate Bid Seen Failing

Challenges Long For No. 2 Post Among Democrats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of Edward M. Kennedy privately give him little chance of winning the No. 2 Senate Democratic post in a bid that apparently is a first step toward a possible 1972 run for the White House.

But win or lose in the challenge he issued Monday, the 36-year-old senator from Massachusetts seems likely to shed at least partially his role as a follower of the leadership team and emerge as a new leader for Senate liberals.

Politicians generally thought this was one of Kennedy's objectives in seeking the job of whip or assistant leader now held by Louisiana's Russell B. Long who wants to keep it.

Usually Thankless Job

Although a usually thankless job that mainly involves rounding up colleagues for roll calls, the assistant leader has traditionally stepped up when the top post became vacant and has helped such previous whips as Hubert H. Humphrey and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy said he has the support of Vice President Humphrey and of Humphrey's running mate in the Nov. 5 election, Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine.

His candidacy also won a quick pledge of support from Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan who earlier pressed Muskie to get into the race.

The test for Kennedy will come at a closed meeting of all Senate Democrats Friday. Long goes into the meeting with almost solid support of Southern Colleagues and an unwillingness on the part of some Northerners to dump him.

Cites' Super Liberals

Long said from his Baton Rouge home that "super liberals" were behind the move, but "I have to admit they picked a good opponent. Frankly, I think I have enough votes to win."

In an earlier statement issued by his office in Washington, Long said that he welcomes Kennedy's challenge "in good

WASHINGTON (AP) — A multimillionaire industrialist has been picked to ramrod day-to-day operations at the Pentagon while Melvin R. Laird concerns himself as secretary of defense with "big picture" policy questions.

Previous indications by Laird and President-elect Nixon that this would be the case were underlined Monday with the naming of Californian David Packard as deputy defense secretary.

Federal Probers Bare Unpublished Report On Thai

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bribery, forgery, collusion and government laxity led to massive thefts of aircraft and other fuels intended for vital U.S. military operations in Thailand, federal investigators say in an unpublished report to Sen. William Proxmire.

The report of a 10-man General Accounting Office team reveals that at least 5.5 million gallons of petroleum products were stolen during 1967 in the country, where hundreds of U.S. Air Force bombers and fighter planes employed in the Vietnam war are based.

Full Loss Not Known

"The full extent of the financial loss to the government is not known at this time," said the report, explaining that the GAO investigators were unable to determine how many more millions of gallons of fuel had been illegally siphoned from the military supply system.

Proxmire, who requested the GAO investigation, released the report to The Associated Press. He said it disclosed "a shocking failure" by the government to properly police its supply system, and said there should be a further inquiry to determine whether any of the jet fuel, gasoline, diesel fuel and lubricants ended up in Communist hands.

"There could be grounds for action," said the senator. An aide said later that the GAO findings would be sent to the Justice Department for study.

Department Action Taken

The Defense Department, in a reply attached to the report, said that as a result of an investigation by the Air Force, "action has been taken against U.S. personnel ranging from fines to five years at hard labor

Prisoner For More Than 5 Years

South Viet Troops Free U.S. Officer Held By VC

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese army troops sweeping a thick jungle in the Mekong Delta today freed a U.S. Army officer who had been a prisoner of the Viet Cong for more than five years.

A U.S. spokesman said the American, a first lieutenant in the Special Forces, was in "satisfactory" condition despite his long captivity. But he was reported emaciated and tired.

A South Vietnamese army officer was reported freed at the same time, and both were flown to hospitals.

The American's identity was withheld until his next of kin are notified.

The U.S. Command said a patrol from the South Vietnamese 21st Division freed the American officer shortly after noon today. He was found in a camp in the wild, marshy U Minh forest about 150 miles southwest of Saigon.

The U Minh forest has long been a Viet Cong stronghold, and allied troops seldom penetrate it. There was no indication whether the South Vietnamese sweep had encountered any resistance.

The American lieutenant reportedly was captured in 1963 while serving as an adviser at a remote camp in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon.

Since American involvement in the war began in January 1961, only a handful of American prisoners have been rescued from Viet Cong camps. The U.S. Command does not know how many Americans may be held in jungle camps.

The Viet Cong has released a few American prisoners and offered before Christmas to release three enlisted men it captured within the past eight months. A team of U.S. negotiators was unable to arrange the release in a meeting Christmas Day with Viet Cong representatives, and another meeting is scheduled New Year's morning.

Little fighting was reported today, the second day of the Viet Cong's New Year's ceasefire, although U.S. and South Vietnamese forces were patrolling as vigorously as ever.

U.S. headquarters reported that two American helicopters were shot down by enemy ground fire Monday several hours after the Viet Cong

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Beatings of USS Pueblo crewmen were stepped up when their North Korean captors learned that a widely circulated photograph—supposedly showing the U.S. sailors in good health and spirits—contained gestures of contempt, two of the crew say.

Charles Benton Law Jr., 27, a quartermaster first class, and Lee Roy Hayes, 26, a radioman, detailed a story of continuous beatings to a news conference Monday.

The 82 surviving Pueblo crewmen were freed from 11 months in a North Korean prison compound and flown here for a Christmas Eve reunion with their families. Law and Hayes were the first permitted by the Navy to tell their stories publicly in detail.

The picture of supposedly contented prisoners sent worldwide by the North Koreans gave rise to speculation and skepticism at the time about treatment of the Americans.

Law said of the finger gestures: "We wanted to let everybody in the United States know" that the impression the North Koreans wanted the photo to give was untrue.

Law said he, Hayes and the others used "internationally known gestures" which the Korean propagandists overlooked. Once they did find out, however, the men said, the beatings increased.

Their story of continuous beatings supported previous statements by the Pueblo skip-

Hancock Sheriff Reveals Reshuffling Of His Staff

Lou Smoleski, newly - elected sheriff of Hancock County, pending a West Virginia Supreme Court hearing Jan. 8, has announced a reshuffling of the sheriff's staff, including the naming of chief deputy.

Smoleski, a Democrat, was declared the winner in the November election by 27 votes, but Ralph Patrick, the defeated Republican, acting on a voting technicality, has obtained a hearing on what he terms questionable ballots before the court.

Patrick claims that none of the ballots cast in Precinct 32 should be counted because they were not endorsed by two duly appointed and legally qualified poll clerks as required by state law. That precinct, in the Butler District of the county, voted 449 for Smoleski and 304 for Patrick.

Heading Smoleski's list of appointees is Jack Thayer of New Cumberland, a former deputy sheriff, who has been named chief deputy, replacing Arnie Durham of Newell. Thayer served under Sheriff Joseph Rodak, but resigned to take a position with plant security at the Weirton Steel Co.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Why Not Take A Day Off?

DEAR HELOISE: I am about at my wit's end. Truly, I am desperate . . .

GERTIE POO.

Aw, come on now gal, take a day off (and if you can figure how, let all of us housewives know) . . .

Heloise

The only answer I have found is to demand it. It's gonna cost you, Shug. Gonna have to have a babysitter. So go on and get one.

Don't spend this day, or hours you will eventually allow yourself, trying to find bargains for the house and family. If you're looking for bargains try and find something for yourself. That's YOU, gal!

But I know you won't do this. I never have!

Why don't we?

If some psychiatrist can figure out why we don't, I'd like to hear from him.

Years ago we were always told to go buy ourselves a new hat. That doesn't work. Where are you going to wear that new hat? To the laundry or the grocery store? Where are you going to be invited to wear that hat except to church?

Honey, I sympathize wholeheartedly. You tell me the answer and you and I will both know — along with all our other friends.

Why don't you pick up a pencil and paper and pour out your heart? Let me in on your troubles. That's what I'm here for. You don't even have to sign your name.

The more letters I receive from housewives the more I understand their problems. And you know the one thing I want to tell you before you write that letter is that you are not just a housewife. You are the very little doll who keeps the house going . . . God bless you always.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: The best recipe holder I've found is that little hanger for nylons that comes with the clothespins attached.

I hang it on my cupboard door handle and clip the recipes on it.

It keeps the recipe at eye level and it stays cleaner, too.

If your cupboard doesn't have handles, you could use a small nail inside the cupboard door.

NANCY.

DEAR HELOISE: When waiting for something or someone, start a job you can't finish — like writing a long letter or cleaning out bureau drawers.

The time goes by all too quickly and you've the satisfaction of having accomplished something, even if it's only partially done . . .

"GREEN ROSES".

DEAR HELOISE: When in the past I use only half of a garlic bud the rest shrinks and is wasted.

Now, when I buy garlic bulbs, I clean them at once, put them into a plastic bag and freeze them.

Then—before I open the bag—I give it one or two raps on the cabinet and the frozen pieces separate. I reach in the bag, get what I need out and put the rest back.

I set my timer for five or six minutes (it thaws in that length of time), and put it through the garlic press or slice it very thin with a sharp knife.

If you let it thaw completely, the bulbs bcome limp and are hard to handle.

DOROTHY HUSE.

DEAR HELOISE: I keep my cat in the house at night and in cool weather, so I have the sandbox problem.

So I bought a plastic baby bathtub and put it in a large cardboard box with a lid on it. I cut a hole in the box big enough for my cat to go in and out of.

The plastic tub can be washed, and the cardboard box eliminates spills and odor. And it keeps the sandbox almost out of sight.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Why Not Take A Day Off?

DEAR HELOISE: I am about at my wit's end. Truly, I am desperate . . .

GERTIE POO.

Aw, come on now gal, take a day off (and if you can figure how, let all of us housewives know) . . .

Heloise

The only answer I have found is to demand it. It's gonna cost you, Shug. Gonna have to have a babysitter. So go on and get one.

Don't spend this day, or hours you will eventually allow yourself, trying to find bargains for the house and family. If you're looking for bargains try and find something for yourself. That's YOU, gal!

But I know you won't do this. I never have!

Why don't we?

If some psychiatrist can figure out why we don't, I'd like to hear from him.

Years ago we were always told to go buy ourselves a new hat. That doesn't work. Where are you going to wear that new hat? To the laundry or the grocery store? Where are you going to be invited to wear that hat except to church?

Honey, I sympathize wholeheartedly. You tell me the answer and you and I will both know — along with all our other friends.

Why don't you pick up a pencil and paper and pour out your heart? Let me in on your troubles. That's what I'm here for. You don't even have to sign your name.

Shape Of Things

World Is Something Like This Entering 1969

Looking forward to 1969? If you are, you probably qualify as an incurable optimist.

On the threshold of a new year, the shape of Mother Earth looks something like this:

Asia

The Vietnam war goes on and on, despite seven months of talks in Paris. Dead on both sides since the American phase began in 1961 now total well over a half million by U.S. reckoning; more than 30,000 were Americans. The talks are bogged down in procedural wrangling over such matters as the shape of the negotiating table.

Hopes for peace in Southeast Asia are complicated by fears of what the peace may bring to other nations in the area. Might an American withdrawal from Asia's mainland bring more uprisings, more guerrilla war, even more instability?

Communist China, the enormous fact of Asian life with its 700 million restive people, has emerged as a nuclear power to be reckoned with, having just achieved its eighth nuclear explosion. It is a source of worry not only to the United States as a Pacific power, but to Peking's one-time ally, the Soviet Union, whose border with China is the world's longest. What happens in China in the immediate future is also of primary concern to all its Asian neighbors, including the Indian subcontinent upon whose frontiers the Chinese apply frequent pressure.

Korea remains a potential time bomb. Communist North Korea is stepping up warlike activities against South Korea. Whether this means a new North Korean military thrust against the South while the United States is involved in Vietnam is anybody's guess, but the Korean peninsula could easily emerge as the world's next explosive spot.

Middle East

The story continues to be one of never-ending tension, aggravated by the fact that Israel, nestled in a sea of 30 million Arab enemies, occupies Arab territory taken in the lightning war of June 1967. Arab armies and Arab terrorists train and hope for the day when they will exact their vengeance. Israel has just demonstrated—with a massive raid on Beirut International Airport that she intends to respond to terror with punishing terror of her own.

The Middle East situation is complicated by Soviet-American rivalries in the Mediterranean area, and the complication is further compounded by sensitive political situations in Eastern Europe. Though both Soviet and American leaders' gestures testify to an eagerness to keep the lid on a Middle East eruption, the tensions are such that it could blow up at any time.

Africa

The major concern in Africa for a watching world at the moment is Nigeria and its civil war which threatens to exterminate secessionist Biafra through a combination of military punishment and starvation. Big-power rivalries help confuse the issue and render more difficult any search for a way out. The rest of the African continent, with most of its people only recently independent, is full of built-in tensions such as those engendered by race problems in South Africa and Rhodesia and by colonial problems in areas like Angola, still held by Portugal.

Europe

Eastern Europe, historically a kettle for brewing conflict, once again provides a major source of worry, springing from the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia last August to snuff out a reform movement. The backlash of this generated tension in Yugoslavia, whose maverick Communist regime skittishly eyes the Soviet Union for signs of her intentions. Romania, too, eyes the Russians, wondering when—or if—they will demand the right to station troops there.

The Czechoslovak episode laid down a new set of rules for Europe so far as Moscow was concerned. Eastern Europe, it has said in effect, is its private sphere where it will tolerate no hint of Western interference. Communist-ruled nations have "Brezhnev Doctrine" enunciated by Moscow's party chief, that the Kremlin calls the tune on the cultural, economic and political development of European nations under Communist regimes.

Czechoslovakia is the westernmost Communist nation in Europe. Its borders touch West Germany and Austria, a fact which gives added weight to persistent Soviet complaints and veiled threats about the West Germans. West German participation in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization thus remains a center of tension for Europe and for Soviet-American relations. The status of West Berlin, isolated 110 miles inside East Germany, continues to be a potential center of crisis.

The Soviet attitudes toward Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Romania and Europe in general have impelled the NATO members to look to their organization for defense, dampening hopes held by many not long ago that the cold war might fade away.

The Americas

Latin America has been shaken by such events as a recent upheaval in Brazil and a military coup in Peru. Brazil has gone through a bloodless revolution and that largest of Latin-American nations is being run openly by a military-backed government. Its constitution has been virtually abolished. Peru has just been through a convulsion which has placed it under the control of a military junta.

Cuba's Communist regime has been relatively quiet of late so far as fomenting rebellion elsewhere in the region has been concerned, though it continues to propagandize the threat.

These are only a few of the world's worries as the world enters 1969. Hardly a nation, from the most powerful to the most humble, is without its uproar. The United States, with a new administration taking the helm, is preoccupied with a wide variety of troubles: civil rights, unruly student movements, slums, pollution and involvement in the Vietnam war, with all the peripheral political and economic trouble that engenders. The Soviet Union is having considerable trouble with its intellectuals and its younger generation, aggravated by the Czechoslovak events. France faces a prospect of a new round of uproar like that of last May when a student and labor uprising all but paralyzed the country.

There probably is a brighter side in all this. There is a chance, for example, that the Vietnam war will be at least scaled down. There is a chance of Soviet-American cooperation toward lessening the major threats in some areas at least. And man has demonstrated, through the space explorations of the two great powers, that his ambition can at times transcend incessant terrestial wrangling.

But over all, the portents for 1969 do not appear to be particularly bright.

Bridge At St. Marys Closed As 'Precautionary Measure'

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Barricades block traffic across St. Marys bridge today following a report that internal cracks are present in the salvaged metal eyebars of a sister bridge which collapsed at Point Pleasant, killing 46 persons.

State Road Commissioner M. R. Hammil said Monday the bridge, linking St. Marys with Newport, Ohio, has been indefinitely closed to traffic as a "precautionary move" in case the structure has similar internal cracking.

The SRC has advised motorists to use the I-77 bridge near Williamstown, 18 miles southwest of St. Marys.

A report of cracks in the eyebar of the Silver Bridge at Point Pleasant, which collapsed Dec. 15, 1967, was received Monday by the commission from the National Transportation Safety Board.

"Consulting bridge engineers indicate that no known tests could locate such internal cracks while the eyebars are in place in a bridge. If such internal cracks exist in the St. Marys bridge, the hazard of a catastrophic failure would be increased in winter weather," Hamill said.

The eye bar is one of a series of flat steel bars, 40 to 50 feet long which are linked together in pairs to form a suspension chain.

Only four bridges in the world, including the Silver and St. Marys structures, were built with the eyebar suspension principle.

A spokesman for the commission said the St. Marys bridge is the last remaining eyebar suspension span in the United States. The only other surviving bridge of similar structure is in Brazil.

Commission spokesmen said a contract for construction of the St. Marys bridge was let in 1927, with the opening of the structure probably occuring in late 1929 or early 1930.

The length of the bridge is 901.8 feet and the width is 26.3 feet.

Moon-Hopping To Mars

Before the moon is really ours, man is reaching for Mars.

With the Apollo 8 mission such a superb performance, it becomes easy for many of us to contemplate a comparable mission to Mars as — just a matter of time.

THE POOH POOHING and skepticism which formerly greeted predictions that man someday would make the seven-month, roughly 35-million-mile journey to Mars when that planet approached "close" to Earth is disappearing.

The voyage actually seems feasible now in light of the new and greater confidence many Americans have in the engineering skill of our space experts, due to Apollo 8's flight.

To those experts, however, the Mars mission is more than feasible — it is an ongoing program. Projected for the '70s are:

An unmanned "grand tour" probe of Jupiter, Saturn and Uranus when the three planets are in fairly close conjunction; landing life detection equipment on Mars in 1973; sending two 900-pound spacecraft around Mars in 1970; dual orbital missions around Mars by 2,000-pound spacecraft in 1971; putting men on Mars in the 1980s.

MAN'S ASPIRATIONS and imagination fly even faster than his racing spaceships. Already he is looking forward with new hope to the day when he can explore Mars and see for himself whether there is life there, and what the mysterious canals are.

As long as mankind possesses this indomitable spirit, the moon will be ours and Mars too.

Great Thinkers Needed

Space is not the only field in which fantasy is becoming reality. Genetics is another.

The new technology of genetic manipulation which has come into being as the result of the recent cracking of the genetic code of life promises many fantastic developments.

WHEN THE MIND ROAMS at large in considering some of the possibilities now open to geneticists, it can be a frightening experience.

A law professor at George Washington University in the nation's capital, concerned about future manipulations, has envisioned the creation of a race of subhuman slaves. He is urging society to begin now to think about controlling the new science.

In declaring that the geneticist now has the potential power to control and accelerate evolution, and thus create new forms of life, the professor said this could lead to the generation of a new species which would "perform man's menial tasks in a condition of slavery."

He also observed that the prospect of determining the sex and physical and mental characteristics of progeny could have a profound effect in the colcal structure if this power was not used wisely.

Although today's estimates are that it will be about 25 years before human applications of this knowledge are made, it could be sooner.

The professor is right. Society must prepare now for its impact. We must know how to handle this power which could be both as dangerous and as marvelous as atomic power.

MAN'S EXPLODING KNOWLEDGE is presenting him with problems of incredible dimensions. Genetic manipulation is one of them.

The attention of our greatest thinkers somehow should be brought to bear on this problem.

Necessary Nonsense

Ten days in jail and $200 and costs will be the minimum penalty in County Judge James MacDonald's Court at Lisbon for anyone found guilty of drunken driving tonight or tomorrow.

It seems nonsensical that human beings must be threatened with jail or loss of money to keep from being intoxicated while operating an auto, because the hazards of death, injury and damage are so obvious.

But the familiar "It coludn't happen to me" attitude brings hundreds of them out on the roads every weekend, and particularly on holidays. We hope Judge MacDonald's warning will be noted—not just by drivers but by other dispensers of justice.

Hints For Space Travelers

While the race to the moon has been going on between the United States and Russia, the Soviet Union also has been preparing for farther exploration of the solar system.

As a part of this preparation, three young Russians spent a full year in a simulated spaceship. The "craft" was 11 feet square.

THE 12-MONTH ISOLATION was planned to test man's ability to live for a long period of time in a confined space, subsisting on virtually self-contained life-support systems.

Interviews with the trio have disclosed information which should be helpful to America's space-voyage planners. For example, the Russians advise anyone planning a long space trip to conduct a very careful selection program to determine psychological compatibility of the crew.

And they recommend further that no games be played for they can become a source of tension between winner and loser.

Keeping busy working is also suggested as a good way to head off friction.

The three men said their 12 months spent cooped up in the cabin of the simulated spaceship seemed like "a long, long year."

THE ISOLATION PROJECT of the Russians serves, in a way, to again point up the regrettable situation which prevents the American and Russian space experts from working together.

If there was a free exchange of experiment results in all phases of the two space programs, and duplication of programs could be eliminated, man's investigation of the universe would race ahead far faster than it is.

A Harvest Moon?

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Well, we really had a close look at the moon last week and we know for a fact that man can get there and back. The next question that has to be answered is what do we do with the moon now that it's in our grasp.

Art Buchwald

A top secret meeting was held in Washington last week to discuss this thorny problem.

Gen. Wilco Andout, the Air Force representative, said, "I don't think we have anything to discuss. The moon should become our first outer-space Air Force base. We've already drawn up the plans and for $50 billion we can give the U.S. a superdeterrent that will set the Soviets back on their ears.

"Even if they knocked out every rocket on earth, we'd still have our hardware on the moon for the final crunch."

Adm. Shipstead of the Navy said, "The moon should be a naval base. After all, it will have to be supplied by spaceships and we're in charge of all ships."

Army Gen. Trenchfoot said angrily, "If the moon has to be occupied, then it's the infantry's job with Air Force and naval support, of course."

A representative of the Department of Parks spoke up:

"I object. I think we should make the moon into a natural park where people can get away from the cares of the world. We should leave it just as it is, only adding a few refreshment stands and places where people can deposit their refuse."

The Department of Transportation jumped in. "Wait a minute. Our highway people have surveyed it and we believe the thing to do with the moon is to pave it from one end to the other. The only way you're going to get people to go to the moon is to provide them with something to drive on."

The Department of Urban Affairs man objected. "The moon should be used for housing development. My department wants to start a pilot program with private industry. We propose to sell the best views of earth for high-rise apartments and luxury hotels to real-estate developers, if they, in turn, will invest in low-cost housing for the poor on the dark side of the moon. This way the costs of public housing would be kept down."

Health, Education and Welfare spoke up. "We'll support that program mainly because we'd like to see if busing school children from the earth to the moon would be feasible."

"Wait a minute," said the Department of Agriculture man. "We think the moon should be set aside for farming and grazing."

"You can't grow anything on the moon," someone shouted.

"All the better," the Department of Agriculture man said. "We pay large sums of money to farmers for not growing anything. If we had the moon, we could triple our budget."

Treasury had a man there. "The secretary insists that nothing be done about the moon until we find out if there is any tax money we can squeeze out of it."

The Department of Commerce spokesman interceded, "I know of seven conglomerates who want to make a bid for the moon, for no other reason than they consider it a growth stock.

I have also been approached by several advertising agencies who would like to lease the moon for outdoor advertising purposes. One agency plans to build the largest neon sign in the universe for its detergent client, and it not only won't cost the government a dime, but they're willing to pay $2 million to lease the space."

Everybody in the room started to yell at once. Suddenly the head of NASA walked in and gaveled the meeting to order.

"Gentlemen, I have just received word that Howard Hughes is willing to buy the moon at any price."

"What does he want to do with it?" someone shouted.

"Hughes doesn't plan to do anything with it. He says he just wants to buy it as protection against anyone ruining his view of Las Vegas."

Ring In The New!

VICTOR RIESEL

A New Ring For Christmas

NEW YORK — It isn't the jingling bells. He can hear them. It's the lights which pain Gertardo Gonzales — or maybe you remember him as Kid Gavilan — once welterweight champ of the world. His eyes went bad in Fidel Castro's damp political prison cells. Nine times, Kid Gavilan was heaved into those Cuban prisons.

Victor Riesel

But he's out now and the lights will go on again for the Kid. He's in the States and a couple of fellows are arranging for eye surgery by one of the world's most famous ophthalmologists.

So the kid will see — and work too, at what he loves. You see, there's something in this jungled city called Guantes Latinos — Latin Gloves. It's sort of a year-round Christmas present to a lot of slum youngsters who think tough, know they're tough, and are tough and always want to fight.

And Kid Gavilan, along with another champ, featherweight Sandy Saddler, will teach them how — without rocks, knives, Molotov cocktails or sawed-off cue sticks. With gloves. In the ring.

These Latin Gloves have been around for a long time. Well, maybe not so long. We can all remember when street gangs roamed the Puerto Rican ghettos. Lots of people got hurt. Some died of sudden clouts, stabbings, muggings.

So, an old friend of mine, Editor Stanley Ross of this city's El Tiempo, went into the asphalt jungle and said to the young marauders, okay, you're tough. Let's see how tough you are. You want to fight? Let's see how you really can fight. Stanley, whom no one can outtalk in Spanish of any dialect, rounded up gang after gang and worked them into the ring.

Soon some 2,400 Spanish-speaking youngsters were registered for an endless series of bouts and eliminations. But now he needed training centers, gyms, personnel — and cash coin. So he wound up with a mutual friend, an International Ladies' Garment Workers (AFL-CIO) official, Marty Cohen, leader of Local 105, baby clothes makers. But don't let that throw you. Marty starred in the ball parks and on the hoops.

And he coached the New York Americans and Brooklyn Gothams. All right. So, who are they? They're not the "Knicks." But basketball is basketball and maybe Marty's a little heavier now. But his heart's there just fine. Marty rounded up 60 gyms, cash money, and threw in his trade union expertise for organizational talent.

Guantes Latinos (Then Guantes Hispanos, which is still around) was off to the races. The kids came off the streets. Gangs and street warfare ceased — even disappeared in lots of neighborhoods.

In the ring, they fought their guts out. Lots of cheering. Maybe even a bottle or two heaved now and then. But soon the crowds grew. Now Guantes needed a real arena. The Ladies' Garment Workers' national president, ex-star, semi-pro shortstop Lou Stulberg, has plenty of heart too, but no arena. But that rough-hewn Joe Curran, National Maritime Union president, has both.

In the ultramodern NMU hall over on Seventh Ave. (developed by Big Joe in consultation with a Frank Lloyd Wright protege) there is a twin hiring hall. In the center, separating the two sections, is a double-faced hiring board on which are listed the daily jobs for engine and deck hands and for stewards. About a thousand seamen a day ship out of these rooms.

Hit a button and the hiring board goes up into the ceiling — leaving a brilliantly lit "garden" stretching from 12th to 13th Street. With a ring in the center, the hall seats 3,000. And it's regularly filled by the shouting backers of the lithe Puerto Rican boxers, some of whom have made the Olympic team and A.A.U. squads. Big Joe Curran gives the auditorium to the non-profit charity corporation, of which Marty Cohen is honorary president, along with a nonpartisan board of directors which includes governors and mayors.

The youth of the old brutal gangs have forgotten their feuds. They let off steam either battling each other in the ring or howling at each other, or whooping it up for their winning team when it meets the squad sent up from Puerto Rico for the interzonal championship bouts.

Now everybody wants in. So editor Stanley Ross and "coach" Marty Cohen are opening up Guantes Latinos. Everybody can come in who wants to quit fighting on the streets and battle in the ring — white, black, Spanish-speaking, or local Indians.

Cohen and Ross tell me they'll have at least 3,500 kids set for training by Kid Gavilan and Sandy Saddler in a few weeks. The tournaments open officially March 27. This time, Guantes Latinos will try to go hemispheric. First, the local champs will challenge the Mexicans. Later, the Guantes will challenge boxers from Venezuela, Colombia and the Dominican Republic.

So it will be Christmas the year round, not only for the kids, but for the neighborhood, for the U.S.A. And maybe this could spread from ghetto to ghetto.

And to Kid Gavilan, for whom the lights will soon go on, a Happy New Year. And to you, too.

Selecting The Cabinet

How little the European press understands the American political system was emphasized when many newspapers in various countries abroad stressed the fact that President-elect Nixon did not appoint either a Democrat or a woman or a Negro to his cabinet.

These "omissions," of course, were mentioned on television and radio and in the press of this country but it also was pointed out as a matter of news that Mr. Nixon had asked Sen. Edward Brooke, Republican of Massachusetts, a Negro, to become a member of the cabinet, and that he declined.

IN THE RECENT ELECTION, 12 per cent of the Negroes, according to the pollsters, voted for Nixon.

The theory that there must be representation in the cabinet not only from the opposite political party but also from every religious or ethnic or racial group fails to take into account the basic principles of party government in the United States.

Certainly no parliamentary system puts into the cabinet persons from another political party unless the two parties have formed a coalition at the polls.

There was a time when a president could not pick a cabinet without giving weight to arguments of politicians in every section of the country who felt that their area should be represented.

Mr. Nixon's manner of choosing his cabinet — thoughtfully reported inside the United States — reflects a fundamental change which escaped the attention of foreign observers. He tried, first of all, to get persons who are capable and who are in sympathy with the principles proclaimed during the last campaign in his various speeches and in the papers prepared by many "task forces."

Next, he sought individuals who are experienced in certain fields which are nowadays directly or indirectly involved with governmental action.

Basically, it was experience in business or in the professions and special knowledge on questions of public policy which brought the cabinet appointees to the attention of the president-elect.

Doubtless if Mr. Nixon had turned away from some especially qualified men, he might have found a woman who could have filled a cabinet post. Presidents Johnson and Kennedy did not name a woman to their cabinets, although President Eisenhower appointed one to head the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and President Roosevelt named a woman to be secretary of labor.

Politics, of course, never ceases to be a prime consideration with any president. Mr. Nixon is fortunate in having in his cabinet a former attorney general, William P. Rogers, who has been active in politics in the Republican party, and also Rep. Melvin Laird, who was one of the leaders of the Republican party in the House.

When political questions arise, the new president will be able to get the counsel and advice of men who know the political risks or advantages that a particular policy may involve. He also has some men with a background of experience in government under preceding administrations.

All in all, the Nixon cabinet will be known as a group of practical men, rather than theoreticians, with a sensitiveness to politics but not necessarily inclined to give overriding consideration to the warnings so often expressed by members of an incumbent political party when their own areas or interests are not favored.

The idea that almost anybody is willing to serve in a cabinet is fallacious. Many of the successful men in business and the professions are reluctant to separate themselves from all private interests and spend four years in government service, frequently at a considerable financial loss.

Sometimes, too, the inconvenience of moving one's home and family is a deterrent. So, on the whole, it is understandable why some persons to whom cabinet positions are offered respectfully decline.

AS GOVERNMENT GROWS, the cabinet will become more and more important. Efforts already are under way to make plans for consolidating various government agencies within certain executive departments.

The national government cannot be organized or operated like a private business. But much can be learned from the persons who have had experience and have made a success in the business world.

Mr. Nixon gave prime consideration to this point in selecting his cabinet. Race or religion or nationality had no priority in his mind.

Guantes Latinos (Then Guantes Hispanos, which is still around) was off to the races. The kids came off the streets. Gangs and street warfare ceased — even disappeared in lots of neighborhoods.

In the ring, they fought their guts out. Lots of cheering. Maybe even a bottle or two heaved now and then. But soon the crowds grew. Now Guantes needed a real arena. The Ladies' Garment Workers' national president, ex-star, semi-pro shortstop Lou Stulberg, has plenty of heart too, but no arena. But that rough-hewn Joe Curran, National Maritime Union president, has both.

In the ultramodern NMU hall over on Seventh Ave. (developed by Big Joe in consultation with a Frank Lloyd Wright protege) there is a twin hiring hall. In the center, separating the two sections, is a double-faced hiring board on which are listed the daily jobs for engine and deck hands and for stewards. About a thousand seamen a day ship out of these rooms.

Hit a button and the hiring board goes up into the ceiling — leaving a brilliantly lit "garden" stretching from 12th to 13th Street. With a ring in the center, the hall seats 3,000. And it's regularly filled by the shouting backers of the lithe Puerto Rican boxers, some of whom have made the Olympic team and A.A.U. squads. Big Joe Curran gives the auditorium to the non-profit charity corporation, of which Marty Cohen is honorary president, along with a nonpartisan board of directors which includes governors and mayors.

The youth of the old brutal gangs have forgotten their feuds. They let off steam either battling each other in the ring or howling at each other, or whooping it up for their winning team when it meets the squad sent up from Puerto Rico for the interzonal championship bouts.

Now everybody wants in. So editor Stanley Ross and "coach" Marty Cohen are opening up Guantes Latinos. Everybody can come in who wants to quit fighting on the streets and battle in the ring — white, black, Spanish-speaking, or local Indians.

Cohen and Ross tell me they'll have at least 3,500 kids set for training by Kid Gavilan and Sandy Saddler in a few weeks. The tournaments open officially March 27. This time, Guantes Latinos will try to go hemispheric. First, the local champs will challenge the Mexicans. Later, the Guantes will challenge boxers from Venezuela, Colombia and the Dominican Republic.

So it will be Christmas the year round, not only for the kids, but for the neighborhood, for the U.S.A. And maybe this could spread from ghetto to ghetto.

And to Kid Gavilan, for whom the lights will soon go on, a Happy New Year. And to you, too.

Selecting The Cabinet

How little the European press understands the American political system was emphasized when many newspapers in various countries abroad stressed the fact that President-elect Nixon did not appoint either a Democrat or a woman or a Negro to his cabinet.

These "omissions," of course, were mentioned on television and radio and in the press of this country but it also was pointed out as a matter of news that Mr. Nixon had asked Sen. Edward Brooke, Republican of Massachusetts, a Negro, to become a member of the cabinet, and that he declined.

IN THE RECENT ELECTION, 12 per cent of the Negroes, according to the pollsters, voted for Nixon.

The theory that there must be representation in the cabinet not only from the opposite political party but also from every religious or ethnic or racial group fails to take into account the basic principles of party government in the United States.

Certainly no parliamentary system puts into the cabinet persons from another political party unless the two parties have formed a coalition at the polls.

There was a time when a president could not pick a cabinet without giving weight to arguments of politicians in every section of the country who felt that their area should be represented.

Mr. Nixon's manner of choosing his cabinet — thoughtfully reported inside the United States — reflects a fundamental change which escaped the attention of foreign observers. He tried, first of all, to get persons who are capable and who are in sympathy with the principles proclaimed during the last campaign in his various speeches and in the papers prepared by many "task forces."

Next, he sought individuals who are experienced in certain fields which are nowadays directly or indirectly involved with governmental action.

Basically, it was experience in business or in the professions and special knowledge on questions of public policy which brought the cabinet appointees to the attention of the president-elect.

Doubtless if Mr. Nixon had turned away from some especially qualified men, he might have found a woman who could have filled a cabinet post. Presidents Johnson and Kennedy did not name a woman to their cabinets, although President Eisenhower appointed one to head the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and President Roosevelt named a woman to be secretary of labor.

Politics, of course, never ceases to be a prime consideration with any president. Mr. Nixon is fortunate in having in his cabinet a former attorney general, William P. Rogers, who has been active in politics in the Republican party, and also Rep. Melvin Laird, who was one of the leaders of the Republican party in the House.

When political questions arise, the new president will be able to get the counsel and advice of men who know the political risks or advantages that a particular policy may involve. He also has some men with a background of experience in government under preceding administrations.

All in all, the Nixon cabinet will be known as a group of practical men, rather than theoreticians, with a sensitiveness to politics but not necessarily inclined to give overriding consideration to the warnings so often expressed by members of an incumbent political party when their own areas or interests are not favored.

The idea that almost anybody is willing to serve in a cabinet is fallacious. Many of the successful men in business and the professions are reluctant to separate themselves from all private interests and spend four years in government service, frequently at a considerable financial loss.

Sometimes, too, the inconvenience of moving one's home and family is a deterrent. So, on the whole, it is understandable why some persons to whom cabinet positions are offered respectfully decline.

AS GOVERNMENT GROWS, the cabinet will become more and more important. Efforts already are under way to make plans for consolidating various government agencies within certain executive departments.

The national government cannot be organized or operated like a private business. But much can be learned from the persons who have had experience and have made a success in the business world.

Mr. Nixon gave prime consideration to this point in selecting his cabinet. Race or religion or nationality had no priority in his mind.

Jordan Charges Israeli With Copter-Plane Raid

council met in urgent session for the second time in 24 hours. The council adjourned at 1 a.m. after three hours of debate, and another meeting was scheduled for 3 p.m.

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli army reported that Arab guerrillas slipped into Israel from Lebanon early today, fired six bazooka rockets into a frontier settlement and escaped. The rockets damaged a water pipe and brought down an electric line, but no one was injured, an Israeli spokesman said. It was the first incident reported on the Israeli-Lebanese border since the Israeli attack on the Beirut airport Saturday night.

Three proposals for Security Council action were being considered in private negotiations among U.N. delegates:

1. Condemnation of Israel for the Beirut raid.

2. Condemnation plus economic sanctions, including cancellation of landing permits for Israeli planes at airports of U.N. member countries.

3. Condemnation and a threat of further action against Israel under provisions of the U.N. Charter dealing with threats ot peace if Israel does not halt its reprisal attacks.

It appeared that the first—condemnation of the raid with no penalties—would be the resolution to win unanimous approval.

Extensive private consultations Monday failed to produce agreement.

Jacob Malik, the chief Soviet delegate, charged attempts were being made behind the scenes to "emasculate" the resolution, in an obvious reference to U.S. efforts to promote a resolution that the majority of the 15 council members would approve.

But at the same time Malik made much of the rare display of unity among the council members, asserting that the United States "for the first time in recent years" had condemned "an aggressive act by Israel against an Arab state."

Israel remained virtually without support in the debate as it reiterated that Saturday's raid on the Beirut airport was in retaliation for an Arab guerrilla attack on an Israeli airliner at Athens airport last week. One Israeli passenger was killed in that attack.

Answering Lebanese claims for more than $40 million in damages for 13 destroyed aircraft, Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah replied: "The life of one Israeli citizen is worth much more than all the metal and engines of planes destroyed by the army unit. Who will pay for the loss of life?"

He reiterated that Israel considers Arab states responsible for terrorist attacks launched from their territory. The two men charged with attacking the plane in Athens came from Beirut, and Israel charged that their organization, the Popular Front for Liberation of Palestine, had its headquarters in the Lebanese capital.

Fouad Boutros, a former Lebanese foreign minister who flew to New York Monday to head his country's U.N. team, accused Israel of unprovoked aggression. He said Israel's reprisal policy undermined the principles at the base of the United Nations.

The council was reported anxious to complete its action on the matter before midnight tonight because the terms of five of its nonpermanent members expire then. They are Brazil, Canada, Denmark, Ethiopia and India, which are being replaced for two-year terms by Colombia, Finland, Nepal, Spain and Zambia.

The New York Times reported that nine days before the Beirut raid, the Soviet Union proposed to the United States that they join in a new effort to promote a Middle East settlement.

The Times dispatch from Washington said the Soviets renewed earlier suggestions for a phased Israeli withdrawal from territories captured in the June 1967 war, a declaration by the Arab states ending their "state of belligerency" with Israel and a big power guarantee of peace in the Middle East.

Some U.S. officials were disappointed that the Soviets did not make new substantive proposals, the Times said, but others were encouraged that the Russians were trying to reopen efforts by the major powers toward a peaceful settlement.

The United States is drafting a reply to the Soviet initiative, the Times said.

In Paris, Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin gave qualified backing to a French call for a Big Four meeting on the Middle East situation.

"I believe," he said in an interview, "there is a good enough base for our countries to move into common action in the interests of a peaceful solution of the Middle East problem, including the four big power members of the Security Council."

Packard

administrator on our team," Laird said.

Packard, who will resign as board chairman of Hewlett-Packard Co. of Palo Alto, Calif., gives up nearly $1 million in income derived from tre firm alone and $300 million in stock by entering government service.

The new job will pay $30,000 a year. But Packard said he will supplement this by some other income.

By picking a skilled administrator, Laird falls into the mold of current Secretary Clark M. Clifford, but differs vastly from Robert S. McNamara who was something of a one-man show.

As a former Ford Motor Co. president, McNamara was fascinated with the mechanism of running the enormous defense establishment, with its 4.8 million uniformed and civilian personnel and its almost limitless facets.

Clifford is a lawyer by trade and, like Laird, had a blank background in administration.

So he has left many of the day-to-day details to his deputy, Paul H. Nitze, while he has devoted much of his energies and time to advising President Johnson on Vietnam and other major problems, including the increased Soviet menace in Central Europe.

When President-elect Nixon announced Laird as secretary of defense Dec. 11, Nixon promised "we will have businessmen at top posts in the Defense Department."

Nixon described Laird as coming "from the world of politics rather than the world of business."

But, Nixon said, Laird "is recognized by his colleagues in the Congress as being one of the top experts on defense appropriations."

Two days later, Laird said that providing policy direction is the "primary responsibility of the secretary of defense."

He pledged to "look for the best help I can find" in administering the government's biggest department.

Laird said Packard was selected because his name kept coming up in the past few weeks during a search for a deputy that included consultations with McNamara.

Area Finance Firm Robbed Third Time

ROCHESTER, Pa. — The Coultas Finance Co. was robbed for the third time this month at 9:45 a. m. today.

The same man who robbed the place the other two times walked up to the teller and said, "This is a stickup."

He was given the money, an undetermined amount, ran to the parking lot two doors away from the finance company, was chased by two bank employes, but he got away.

South Africa, Canada and the U.S., in that order, are the three leading golf - producing countries.

were Robert Wilson of Chester, a former Chester patrolman; Robert Williams, Richard Tingler and Lucien Laurine all of Weirton; Mary Kostka of Weirton and Jean Ann Gibson of New Cumberland.

Smoleski retained Nick Lalich and Calvin Burns of Weirton and Peck Glover, John Roefaro and Betty Blake, all of New Cumberland.

Four women in the tax office were retained, Mary Weekley, Judy Sholtis, Helen Fouty and Eleanor Patterson.

Newly appointed part - time deputies are Charles Taylor, Carles Dawson and Richard Bennett of New Cumberland, while Edward Cutone and Frank Ticich of Weirton were retained.

In a statement, Smoleski said "because of legal budgetary requirments, for the first six months of my term, my office will have to operate on the budget allowances previously made. I will not ask the County Court to make any changes in the budget presently in effect for these six months except for emergencies should any arise.

"However, I am making certain changes in the hiring of deputy sheriffs. It is my firm belief that the people of Hancock County want reliable and experienced deputies.

"For that reason I am reshuffling the sheriff's staff in order to provide three deputies for general service throughout the 24 hours of every day. In order to accomplish this, I shall rely on a nucleus of one male chief deputy, nine male field deputies, three office and radio female deputies and five part-time male deputies to perform special duties in the field. The tax office force will remain as presently constituted."

All 26 Feared Dead In Australian Crash

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A chartered Australian airliner crashed in northwest Australia today, and all 26 persons aboard were believed dead.

The pilot of a small plane reported he sighted the wreckage of the Viscount and saw no sign of any survivors. He said the burned wreckage was scattered over a wide area.

The plane was operated by the Australian airline Ansett-Ana.

Burglary Investigated At St. Clair Ave. Home

Police were summoned today to investigate a burglary at the home of Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, dentist, at 2742 St. Clair Ave.

Patrolman H. Clyde Dillon said the entry was discovered at 8:40 by a maid when she reported for work this morning. A 24-by-24 pane of glass had been broken out of a basement door, which was standing open, he said.

The officer found a .30 caliber lever action rifle leaning against the wall near the door. He said it had been taken from a gun cabinet in the livingroom. A transistor radio also was found near the door after being moved from a spot somewhere else in the home, the officers said.

The entry apparently took place in the preceding two days. Footprints in the snow indicated two persons entered the home.

Jordan Charges Israeli With Copter-Plane Raid

council met in urgent session for the second time in 24 hours. The council adjourned at 1 a.m. after three hours of debate, and another meeting was scheduled for 3 p.m.

In Tel Aviv, the Israeli army reported that Arab guerrillas slipped into Israel from Lebanon early today, fired six bazooka rockets into a frontier settlement and escaped. The rockets damaged a water pipe and brought down an electric line, but no one was injured, an Israeli spokesman said. It was the first incident reported on the Israeli-Lebanese border since the Israeli attack on the Beirut airport Saturday night.

Three proposals for Security Council action were being considered in private negotiations among U.N. delegates:

1. Condemnation of Israel for the Beirut raid.

2. Condemnation plus economic sanctions, including cancellation of landing permits for Israeli planes at airports of U.N. member countries.

3. Condemnation and a threat of further action against Israel under provisions of the U.N. Charter dealing with threats of peace if Israel does not halt its reprisal attacks.

It appeared that the first—condemnation of the raid with no penalties—would be the resolution to win unanimous approval.

Extensive private consultations Monday failed to produce agreement.

Jacob Malik, the chief Soviet delegate, charged attempts were being made behind the scenes to "emasculate" the resolution, in an obvious reference to U.S. efforts to promote a resolution that the majority of the 15 council members would approve.

But at the same time Malik made much of the rare display of unity among the council members, asserting that the United States "for the first time in recent years" had condemned "an aggressive act by Israel against an Arab state."

Israel remained virtually without support in the debate as it reiterated that Saturday's raid on the Beirut airport was in retaliation for an Arab guerrilla attack on an Israeli airliner at Athens airport last week. One Israeli passenger was killed in that attack.

Answering Lebanese claims for more than $40 million in damages for 13 destroyed aircraft, Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah replied: "The life of one Israeli citizen is worth much more than all the metal and engines of planes destroyed by the army unit. Who will pay for the loss of life?"

He reiterated that Israel considers Arab states responsible for terrorist attacks launched from their territory. The two men charged with attacking the plane in Athens came from Beirut, and Israel charged that their organization, the Popular Front for Liberation of Palestine, had its headquarters in the Lebanese capital.

Fouad Boutros, a former Lebanese foreign minister who flew to New York Monday to head his country's U.N. team, accused Israel of unprovoked aggression. He said Israel's reprisal policy undermined the principles at the base of the United Nations.

The council was reported anxious to complete its action on the matter before midnight tonight because the terms of five of its nonpermanent members expire then. They are Brazil, Canada, Denmark, Ethiopia and India, which are being replaced for two-year terms by Colombia, Finland, Nepal, Spain and Zambia.

The New York Times reported that nine days before the Beirut raid, the Soviet Union proposed to the United States that they join in a new effort to promote a Middle East settlement.

The Times dispatch from Washington said the Soviets renewed earlier suggestions for a phased Israeli withdrawal from territories captured in the June 1967 war, a declaration by the Arab states ending their "state of belligerency" with Israel and a big power guarantee of peace in the Middle East.

Some U.S. officials were disappointed that the Soviets did not make new substantive proposals, the Times said, but others were encouraged that the Russians were trying to reopen efforts by the major powers toward a peaceful settlement.

The United States is drafting a reply to the Soviet initiative, the Times said.

In Paris, Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin gave qualified backing to a French call for a Big Four meeting on the Middle East situation.

"I believe," he said in an interview, "there is a good enough base for our countries to move into common action in the interests of a peaceful solution of the Middle East problem, including the four big power members of the Security Council."

Packard

administrator on our team," Laird said.

Packard, who will resign as board chairman of Hewlett-Packard Co. of Palo Alto, Calif., gives up nearly $1 million in income derived from tre firm alone and $300 million in stock by entering government service.

The new job will pay $30,000 a year. But Packard said he will supplement this by some other income.

By picking a skilled administrator, Laird falls into the mold of current Secretary Clark M. Clifford, but differs vastly from Robert S. McNamara who was something of a one-man show.

As a former Ford Motor Co. president, McNamara was fascinated with the mechanism of running the enormous defense establishment, with its 4.8 million uniformed and civilian personnel and its almost limitless facets.

Clifford is a lawyer by trade and, like Laird, had a blank background in administration.

So he has left many of the day-to-day details to his deputy, Paul H. Nitze, while he has devoted much of his energies and time to advising President Johnson on Vietnam and other major problems, including the increased Soviet menace in Central Europe.

When President-elect Nixon announced Laird as secretary of defense Dec. 11, Nixon promised "we will have businessmen at top posts in the Defense Department."

Nixon described Laird as coming "from the world of politics rather than the world of business."

But, Nixon said, Laird "is recognized by his colleagues in the Congress as being one of the top experts on defense appropriations."

Two days later, Laird said that providing policy direction is the "primary responsibility of the secretary of defense."

He pledged to "look for the best help I can find" in administering the government's biggest department.

Laird said Packard was selected because his name kept coming up in the past few weeks during a search for a deputy that included consultations with McNamara.

Smith Given Promotion By National Steel

PITTSBURGH — Edwin J. Smith has been appointed vice president - research and development by the National Steel Corp.

A 22-year veteran with National Steel, Smith had been director of the department since 1963.

A graduate of the University of Cincinnati with a professional degree in Chemical Engineering, Smith did graduate work at Case Institute of Technology before joining National Steel in 1946 as a research chemical engineer. In 1953, he became supervisor of electrolytic research. In 1958, he became associate director-product research, and, in 1963, director of research and development.

George A. Stinson, president of National Steel, and Rowland F. Hall, president of Hastings Aluminum Products, Inc., announced jointly today that the merger of Hastings into national has been approved by the stockholders of Hastings and all action necessary for consummation of the merger has taken place. The merger became effective today.

Hastings will operate as a subsidiary of National Steel and will be headed by Hall as president.

The company manufactures aluminum building products, primarily siding. It also operates aluminum warehouses in New Jersey and Illinois and a local residential building company in Hastings, Michigan.

Area Finance Firm Robbed Third Time

ROCHESTER, Pa. — The Coultas Finance Co. was robbed for the third time this month at 9:45 a. m. today.

The same man who robbed the place the other two times walked up to the teller and said, "This is a stickup."

He was given the money, an undetermined amount, ran to the parking lot two doors away from the finance company, was chased by two bank employes, but he got away.

South Africa, Canada and the U.S., in that order, are the three leading golf - producing countries.

were Robert Wilson of Chester, a former Chester patrolman; Robert Williams, Richard Tingler and Lucien Laurine all of Weirton; Mary Kostka of Weirton and Jean Ann Gibson of New Cumberland.

Smoleski retained Nick Lalich and Calvin Burns of Weirton and Peck Glover, John Roefaro and Betty Blake, all of New Cumberland.

Four women in the tax office were retained, Mary Weekley, Judy Sholtis, Helen Fouty and Eleanor Patterson.

Newly appointed part - time deputies are Charles Taylor, Carles Dawson and Richard Bennett of New Cumberland, while Edward Cutone and Frank Ticich of Weirton were retained.

In a statement, Smoleski said "because of legal budgetary requirments, for the first six months of my term, my office will have to operate on the budget allowances previously made. I will not ask the County Court to make any changes in the budget presently in effect for these six months except for emergencies should any arise.

"However, I am making certain changes in the hiring of deputy sheriffs. It is my firm belief that the people of Hancock County want reliable and experienced deputies.

"For that reason I am reshuffling the sheriff's staff in order to provide three deputies for general service throughout the 24 hours of every day. In order to accomplish this, I shall rely on a nucleus of one male chief deputy, nine male field deputies, three office and radio female deputies and five part-time male deputies to perform special duties in the field. The tax office force will remain as presently constituted."

All 26 Feared Dead In Australian Crash

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A chartered Australian airliner crashed in northwest Australia today, and all 26 persons aboard were believed dead.

The pilot of a small plane reported he sighted the wreckage of the Viscount and saw no sign of any survivors. He said the burned wreckage was scattered over a wide area.

The plane was operated by the Australian airline Ansett-Ana.

Burglary Investigated At St. Clair Ave. Home

Police were summoned today to investigate a burglary at the home of Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, dentist, at 2742 St. Clair Ave.

Patrolman H. Clyde Dillon said the entry was discovered at 8:40 by a maid when she reported for work this morning. A 24-by-24 pane of glass had been broken out of a basement door, which was standing open, he said.

The officer found a .30 caliber lever action rifle leaning against the wall near the door. He said it had been taken from a gun cabinet in the livingroom. A transistor radio also was found near the door after being moved from a spot somewhere else in the home, the officers said.

The entry apparently took place in the preceding two days. Footprints in the snow indicated two persons entered the home.

Thefts

in one instance." It did not list any names.

The thefts were accomplished, the GAO report said, principally through bribery of U.S. personnel and forgery of receipts—many of them made out to military units that didn't exist.

"It seems clear that the responsible officials acted imprudently" in failing to verify that the fuel was received, said the report, which added:

"The theft of fuel, so far as has been detected, was perpetrated primarily by collusion and forgery; it is possible, therefore, that a more sophisticated system (of verifying delivery), properly implemented, may not have detected such irregularities."

Nonetheless, the GAO recommended that the Pentagon tighten up procedures which the report said "were weak, deficient and did not adequately protect the government's interest." Some steps for better monitoring of the supply network have been taken by military authorities, the report said, but it added that "improved procedures and practices are still required."

The stolen fuel was part of $42 million worth of petroleum products ordered by the Navy Fuel Supply Office from three major oil companies—Asiatic Petroleum Corp., an affiliate of Shell Oil Co.; Esso International Inc., and Caltex Oil Ltd., all of New York— for use in Thailand during 1967.

Proxmire requested the GAO probe last March after John McGee, a civilian employe of the Navy, wrote him from Bangkok that slipshod controls allowed illegal operations to flourish in the distribution of gasoline and other products through Thai service stations and in the shipment of fuel directly to U.S. installations.

The GAO confirmed McGee's charges. It found that contents of hundreds of tank trucks had vanished, and that large-scale thefts of products at service stations had gone unnoticed for months.

To illustrate the widespread nature of the thefts, the report cited spot checks which showed that in one 10-month period, 52 per cent of all gasoline stored in Thai service stations for use by U.S. military vehicles was stolen. It disclosed, too, that 40 per cent of all diesel fuel shipped to one air base in 1967 never arrived.

GAO investigators said the Army's 9th Logistics Command, responsible for overseeing distribution of fuel from service stations operated by Shell Company of Thailand, Ltd., did not enforce its own regulations.

"It seems," their report said, "that during the period when theft of the fuel was widespread nobody was assigned to discharge the responsibility for monitoring fuel supply."

The military's Sub-Area Petroleum Office in Thailand—next step up in the complex supply system—also failed to verify delivery of fuel to U.S. vehicles, the report said.

The GAO said the Navy fuel office in Bangkok did certify that the fuel had been delivered, although it had no "responsibility to make this verification." Furthermore, said the report, the Navy office verified delivery "without contacting the receiving activities to confirm actual receipt."

From January to October 1967, investigators said, "We estimate that over 590,500 gallons or about 52 per cent of the approximately 1,128,700 gallons said to have been supplied by the service stations to U.S. vehicles, was stolen."

The thefts were accomplished, the report said, by:

—Use of fictitious names of military units.

—Use of false vehicle numbers.

—Use of identification numbers of vehicles which had been junked or were no longer used.

—Falsification of delivery receipts showing "excessive and unrealistic" filling of the same vehicle, in most cases with more gasoline than the vehicle's tanks could possibly hold.

In one case, said the GAO, military authorities found that 371,000 gallons was stolen by use of the name "COMM. U.S. Air Force" on receipts. No such unit or designation exists, the report said.

"Our investigation indicated that further unidentified thefts of fuel (from service stations) may have occurred and that the full extent of the losses is unknown," the GAO said.

In reporting on the theft of entire truckloads of aviation and other fuels earmarked for direct delivery to U.S. installations, the GAO report said again that more thefts may have occurred, and repeated that the full extent of losses was not known.

The report said, however, that authorities established that at least 378 truckloads—or 1.2 million gallons—had been stolen.

As in the service station thefts, the report said, the Navy Fuel Supply Office in Bangkok certified vouchers for the payment of contractors without determining whether the fuel had actually been received.

The "material inspection and receiving reports" contained a statement that the office had "coordinated the above shipment information with the receiving activity and signs below on their behalf," the GAO said.

But the agency said the official who signed the reports told their investigators in an interview that "he did not compare or check delivery receipts ... He said that the volume ... and pressure of his workload would not permit his doing this on a systematic basis."

While thefts at service stations were committed mainly through forgery, the GAO said it could not learn if this was done by individual drivers, by service station attendants, or by "an organized group". The Pentagon said "a number of Thai truck drivers have been discharged and debarred from Air Force bases."

The investigators reported they were unable to obtain from the 9th logistics command information detailing the unit's inspection procedures. They said they were told that the officer responsible for supply control during 1967 had left Thailand and that important supply records were not available for their review.

But officers and drivers contacted by the investigators invariably told them, the report said, "that, as far as they knew, there was no instruction, prior to October 1967, providing for essential monitoring elements..."

"One of these individuals told us he threw away the delivery receipts he received when he obtained fuel from the service stations ..." the report said.

"Another individual we interviewed said he had no document to show how much product has been received into the military vehicles for which he was responsible; that he had never seen a delivery receipt, and that he had no idea what the drivers did with the copies of the receipts they received."

FUTURE SHAPE—of telephone booths, that is—may be seen in downtown Vancouver, B.C. Two modern "see-through" booths have been placed in the Canadian city's theater district on an experimental basis. If they work out, others will be produced for installation at additional locations.

Stamps In The News

To commemorate the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference held at Nassau, four attractive postage stamps lithographed in multicolor have been issued by the Bahamas.

The conference brings together members of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Assn., founded in 1911, to promote understanding and respect for parliamentary institutions, the rule of law and human rights of the individual.

The 3-cents stamp shows the Legislative Building in Nassau built in 1720. The 10 cents depicts the Bahamas Mace and London's Big Ben, the latter being the famed tower over the British Parliament. The 12 cents illustrates the local straw market visited by millions of tourists to Nassau. The 15 cents features the horse - drawn surrey common to the streets of Nassau. Each stamp also bears a profile portrait of Britain's Queen Elizabeth.

THE VATICAN POST Office has issued three new Christmas stamps depicting the image of Jesus as a child being venerated in Prague. This is the single subject on each of the three values, reports the post office in Vatican City. The values are 20 lire 3 U.S. cents), 50 lire (8 U.S. cents) and 250 lire (40 U.S. cents).

SWITZERLAND has announced the issuance of its annual "Publicity Stamps" which each year honor different national events or anniversaries. The 1968 set consists of four stamps dedicated to four celebrations. The 10 centimes commemorates the 50th anniversary of the Swiss Accident Insurance Society. The main design is a miner's helmet. The 20 c marks the 125th anniversary of its first three postage stamps issued in 1843. The design bears illustrations of the first three adhesives. The 30c commemorates the 25th anniversary of the Swiss National Commission for City Planning. The design shows a map. The 50 c honors the centenary of the Rhine Navigation Act. Six stars above an anchor represent the signatories — Switzerland, Belgium, West Germany, France, Great Britain and the Netherlands.

THE REPUBLIC of Korea has issued a 7-won stamp to commemorate the third general assembly of the Federation of Asian Pharmaceutical Associations held in Seoul. Fourteen countries and 1,700 delegates participated. The two main topics were "Natural Sources of Drugs in Asia" and "Problems of Food and Drug Additives." The new stamp bears the emblem of the association in a drab, dull design.

READERS OF THIS column who are interested in purchasing stamps of any country can obtain the items, including first - day covers and cachets, at their local stamp dealer or department store which has a stamp section. The prices will be higher than face value but are easily accessible.

THE REPUBLIC of China has issued six new stamps commemorating President Chiang Kai-shek's meritorious service, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The stamp designs, painted by famous Chinese arts, summarize the modern history of China. The highest value features the national flag flying over an outline map of all China, representing the hope and belief of the Chinese people for the eventual recovery of the China mainland under President Chiang.

HERE ARE SOME of the upcoming issues from Austria: a special stamp to mark the 50th anniversary of the death of Peter Rosegger, a new value in the Architectural Monuments series, a special stamp for the 1968 Winter Universiade at Innsbruck, a stamp to honor the bicentennial of Vienna Veterinary University and a series devoted to the International Air Mail Exhibition in Vienna.

Thefts

in one instance." It did not list any names.

The thefts were accomplished, the GAO report said, principally through bribery of U.S. personnel and forgery of receipts—many of them made out to military units that didn't exist.

"It seems clear that the responsible officials acted imprudently" in failing to verify that the fuel was received, said the report, which added:

"The theft of fuel, so far as has been detected, was perpetrated primarily by collusion and forgery; it is possible, therefore, that a more sophisticated system (of verifying delivery), properly implemented, may not have detected such irregularities."

Nonetheless, the GAO recommended that the Pentagon tighten up procedures which the report said "were weak, deficient and did not adequately protect the government's interest." Some steps for better monitoring of the supply network have been taken by military authorities, the report said, but it added that "improved procedures and practices are still required."

The stolen fuel was part of $42 million worth of petroleum products ordered by the Navy Fuel Supply Office from three major oil companies—Asiatic Petroleum Corp., an affiliate of Shell Oil Co.; Esso International Inc., and Caltex Oil Ltd., all of New York— for use in Thailand during 1967.

Proxmire requested the GAO probe last March after John McGee, a civilian employe of the Navy, wrote him from Bangkok that slipshod controls allowed illegal operations to flourish in the distribution of gasoline and other products through Thai service stations and in the shipment of fuel directly to U.S. installations.

The GAO confirmed McGee's charges. It found that contents of hundreds of tank trucks had vanished, and that large-scale thefts of products at service stations had gone unnoticed for months.

To illustrate the widespread nature of the thefts, the report cited spot checks which showed that in one 10-month period, 52 per cent of all gasoline stored in Thai service stations for use by U.S. military vehicles was stolen. It disclosed, too, that 40 per cent of all diesel fuel shipped to one air base in 1967 never arrived.

GAO investigators said the Army's 9th Logistics Command, responsible for overseeing distribution of fuel from service stations operated by Shell Company of Thailand, Ltd., did not enforce its own regulations.

"It seems," their report said, "that during the period when theft of the fuel was widespread nobody was assigned to discharge the responsibility for monitoring fuel supply."

The military's Sub-Area Petroleum Office in Thailand—next step up in the complex supply system—also failed to verify delivery of fuel to U.S. vehicles, the report said.

The GAO said the Navy fuel office in Bangkok did certify that the fuel had been delivered, although it had no "responsibility to make this verification." Furthermore, said the report, the Navy office verified delivery "without contacting the receiving activities to confirm actual receipt."

From January to October 1967, investigators said, "We estimate that over 590,500 gallons or about 52 per cent of the approximately 1,128,700 gallons said to have been supplied by the service stations to U.S. vehicles, was stolen."

The thefts were accomplished, the report said, by:

—Use of fictitious names of military units.

—Use of false vehicle numbers.

—Use of identification numbers of vehicles which had been junked or were no longer used.

—Falsification of delivery receipts showing "excessive and unrealistic" filling of the same vehicle, in most cases with more gasoline than the vehicle's tanks could possibly hold.

In one case, said the GAO, military authorities found that 371,000 gallons was stolen by use of the name "COMM. U.S. Air Force" on receipts. No such unit or designation exists, the report said.

"Our investigation indicated that further unidentified thefts of fuel (from service stations) may have occurred and that the full extent of the losses is unknown," the GAO said.

In reporting on the theft of entire truckloads of aviation and other fuels earmarked for direct delivery to U.S. installations, the GAO report said again that more thefts may have occurred, and repeated that the full extent of losses was not known.

The report said, however, that authorities established that at least 378 truckloads—or 1.2 million gallons—had been stolen.

As in the service station thefts, the report said, the Navy Fuel Supply Office in Bangkok certified vouchers for the payment of contractors without determining whether the fuel had actually been received.

The "material inspection and receiving reports" contained a statement that the office had "coordinated the above shipment information with the receiving activity and signs below on their behalf," the GAO said.

But the agency said the official who signed the reports told their investigators in an interview that "he did not compare or check delivery receipts ... He said that the volume ... and pressure of his workload would not permit his doing this on a systematic basis."

While thefts at service stations were committed mainly through forgery, the GAO said it could not learn if this was done by individual drivers, by service station attendants, or by "an organized group". The Pentagon said "a number of Thai truck drivers have been discharged and debarred from Air Force bases."

The investigators reported they were unable to obtain from the 9th logistics command information detailing the unit's inspection procedures. They said they were told that the officer responsible for supply control during 1967 had left Thailand and that important supply records were not available for their review.

But officers and drivers contacted by the investigators invariably told them, the report said, "that, as far as they knew, there was no instruction, prior to October 1967, providing for essential monitoring elements..."

"One of these individuals told us he threw away the delivery receipts he received when he obtained fuel from the service stations ..." the report said.

"Another individual we interviewed said he had no document to show how much product has been received into the military vehicles for which he was responsible; that he had never seen a delivery receipt, and that he had no idea what the drivers did with the copies of the receipts they received."

FUTURE SHAPE—of telephone booths, that is—may be seen in downtown Vancouver, B.C. Two modern "see-through" booths have been placed in the Canadian city's theater district on an experimental basis. If they work out, others will be produced for installation at additional locations.

Stamps In The News

To commemorate the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference held at Nassau, four attractive postage stamps lithographed in multicolor have been issued by the Bahamas.

The conference brings together members of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Assn., founded in 1911, to promote understanding and respect for parliamentary institutions, the rule of law and human rights of the individual.

The 3-cents stamp shows the Legislative Building in Nassau built in 1720. The 10 cents depicts the Bahamas Mace and London's Big Ben, the latter being the famed tower over the British Parliament. The 12 cents illustrates the local straw market visited by millions of tourists to Nassau. The 15 cents features the horse - drawn surrey common to the streets of Nassau. Each stamp also bears a profile portrait of Britain's Queen Elizabeth.

THE VATICAN POST Office has issued three new Christmas stamps depicting the image of Jesus as a child being venerated in Prague. This is the single subject on each of the three values, reports the post office in Vatican City. The values are 20 lire 3 U.S. cents), 50 lire (8 U.S. cents) and 250 lire (40 U.S. cents).

SWITZERLAND has announced the issuance of its annual "Publicity Stamps" which each year honor different national events or anniversaries. The 1968 set consists of four stamps dedicated to four celebrations. The 10 centimes commemorates the 50th anniversary of the Swiss Accident Insurance Society. The main design is a miner's helmet. The 20 c marks the 125th anniversary of its first three postage stamps issued in 1843. The design bears illustrations of the first three adhesives. The 30c commemorates the 25th anniversary of the Swiss National Commission for City Planning. The design shows a map. The 50 c honors the centenary of the Rhine Navigation Act. Six stars above an anchor represent the signatories — Switzerland, Belgium, West Germany, France, Great Britain and the Netherlands.

THE REPUBLIC of Korea has issued a 7-won stamp to commemorate the third general assembly of the Federation of Asian Pharmaceutical Associations held in Seoul. Fourteen countries and 1,700 delegates participated. The two main topics were "Natural Sources of Drugs in Asia" and "Problems of Food and Drug Additives." The new stamp bears the emblem of the association in a drab, dull design.

READERS OF THIS column who are interested in purchasing stamps of any country can obtain the items, including first - day covers and cachets, at their local stamp dealer or department store which has a stamp section. The prices will be higher than face value but are easily accessible.

THE REPUBLIC of China has issued six new stamps commemorating President Chiang Kai-shek's meritorious service, reports the World Wide Philatelic Agency. The stamp designs, painted by famous Chinese arts, summarize the modern history of China. The highest value features the national flag flying over an outline map of all China, representing the hope and belief of the Chinese people for the eventual recovery of the China mainland under President Chiang.

HERE ARE SOME of the upcoming issues from Austria: a special stamp to mark the 50th anniversary of the death of Peter Rosegger, a new value in the Architectural Monuments series, a special stamp for the 1968 Winter Universiade at Innsbruck, a stamp to honor the bicentennial of Vienna Veterinary University and a series devoted to the International Air Mail Exhibition in Vienna.

$56,375 Seen As Yield For Car Licenses

Figures obtained from Fred Rice, state registrar of motor vehicles, indicate $56,375 will be raised through a $5-a-year local motor vehicle tax law enacted by Council Saturday, Solicitor J. Michael Kapp said today.

Kapp said the registrar reported 11,275 motor vehicles of all types were registered to East Liverpool individuals and firms in 1967. Previous unofficial estimates had placed the number of vehicles at 9,000, which would have meant a $45,000-a-year yield.

Council enacted the legislation under suspension of rules at a special meeting Saturday. Members emphasized the funds will be used entirely for street improvements and maintenance, particularly to finance the annual low-cost summer surfacing program in which the city splits the cost with property owners on a 50-50 basis.

Funds from the license tax also will be used to apply biennial surface treatments to streets previously improved in the low-cost program. The surface treatments are paid for entirely with city funds.

The new city tax becomes effective Jan. 1. Vehicle owners presumably will pay the additional fee when they go to a registrar's office early in the spring to buy new Ohio tags.

Flood Of Phony Money Expected To Hit Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Hundreds of counterfeit $20 bills are expected to be circulated in Greater Cleveland area today and tonight, the U.S. Attorney's Office warned Monday.

"In recent weeks counterfeit notes amounting to $50,000 have been passed in the Greater Cleveland area," said Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert L. Turoff.

"Merchants should refuse to accept any $20 bill that looks the least bit suspicious."

He said that gangs responsible for passing the notes are expected to be out in force New Year's Eve when money usually changes hands rapidly at night clubs and other entertainment spots.

Turoff said police found two counterfeit $20 bills hidden inside the wallet of a 28-year-old Euclid man arrested for failure to pay a court fee.

The man, Gary Dale Harris, was charged with possession of counterfeit bills and his case continued Monday until Jan. 15 by U.S. Commissioner Clifford E. Bruce.

Harris, who faces three other federal charges, was free on $2,500 bond.

In April, he was arrested and charged with passing a forged government check worth $111.70.

The following month, he was charged with selling counterfeit $100 money notes worth $18,000. The third charge involved interstate transportation of stolen money orders.

Two Will Face Jury In Bad Check Charge

An East Liverpool man and an AWOL soldier will face the Beaver County Grand Jury on charges of passing bad checks.

They waived a hearing before Squire Leroy Gibbs of Brighton Township.

A detainer has been filed by Army officials in Pittsburgh against Thomas McPherson, believed AWOL from Ft. Meade, Md. He is charged with "conspiring to commit a crime and forgery."

Donald DePue of East Liverpool is charged with "conspiring to commit an unlawful act." He previously had pleaded guilty to passing worthless checks.

Cracks On Moon Believed As Result Of Earthquakes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Cracks on the moon found in Apollo 8 pictures may be the result of quakes on the lunar surface, a geologist for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday.

John W. Dietrich said rilles on the surface of them "appear to be tension features," caused by contraction of the delicate surface material.

"We see similar things on earth," he said. He compared the character of the rilles as like that of arroyos in the western United States.

The three astronauts, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders continued to talk into tape recorders about their impressions of the moon and their trip around it.

Several space agency officials said a behind-the-scenes move is under way to have the moon mariners make their next public appearance in Washington, possibly with a ticker tape parade and a meeting with President Johnson.

Dietrich said a picture taken by the Apollo 8 crew of a large crater showed parallel faults ripping through it from one side to the other, a feature called "graben" on earth.

Dietrich said there were rilles that had the characteristics of meandering rivers or streams "at first glance," but that scientists are divided about whether they were caused by water.

"I personally think that if water had any effect, it was only minor," he said.

One explanation for the cracked features on the moon's surface, he said, is that they are caused by mud drying and separating.

"I personally dislike that explanation," he said.

The scientist said no explanation has been found for the faint color which has shown up in some of the Apollo 8 photographs of the moon which the space agency has released.

Dietrich said the processing of the film has been eliminated as a source of the color, but it's believed it could have come from a temporary coating of the spacecraft windows.

All the surface, he said, is probably like the "dirty beach sand" the astronauts described it.

He said there was little that was surprising in the lunar film brought back by the Apollo 8 astronauts. He said many questions about the moon had been answered by pictures from Lunar Orbiter satellites, which earlier circled the moon, and Surveyor, which soft-landed on the surface.

He said the Apollo 8's pictures of the backside were much better than those from Orbiter, which flew an eliptical path and was very high above the lunar backside.

"The astronauts gave us what we asked for on content," Dietrich said, but the volume of the photos will require weeks of study before their precise scientific value can be established.

Also to be studied are the reports from the astronauts who are spending eight hours each day meeting with scientists and space officials, answering questions and telling what they saw, felt and did during their six-day flight.

They will get their first day off in weeks on New Year's Day then the debriefing will resume Jan. 2 and continue until Jan. 8. A news conference is scheduled that day but space officials said it might be replaced by a Washington ceremony.

The space agency Monday released the first movies of the crew inside their space cabin. They showed Lovell and Anders going through routine on-board duties.

The film included one sequence showing Lovell working with equipment while two flashlights hang suspended in weightlessness. Just as the scene shifts, the hand of one of the other crewmen reaches out, gives one of the flashlights a nudge, and it spins rapidly in midair.

Foulks Resigns His Trustee Post

The resignation of Lorain Foulks as a St. Clair Township trustee was accepted during the final meeting of the trustees Monday night.

Foulks, who had been in failing health for some time, is a patient at Geraldine's Nursing Home. He had served three years of his four-year term. An appointment will be made soon, trustees said.

Requests for slag were heard for Carroll and Moore roads and a request was received for a sewer inspection in the McCaughtry Addition.

A parking problem along the Cannons Mills Rd. was discussed.

Bills totaling $4,217 were paid.

A reorganizational meeting will be held Jan. 6.

Driver Flees Crash Scene, Eludes Chase

Eluding pursuit by a Lake County man whose car he had hit, a hit-skip driver fled the scene of a crash early this morning on the East Liverpool approach to the Chester Bridge, police reported.

Raymond D. Kolozy, 32, of Painesville told officers he had just turned right from E. 3rd St. toward the bridge when he saw an oncoming car was left of the center line. Kolozy said he halted, but the other auto struck his 1964 sedan, causing light damage to the left front door and left rear fender.

As the other car sped away, Kolozy turned his auto and gave chase, but the hit-skip car eluded him on College St., he said. Kolozy gave police a description of the other auto. The crash was timed at 2 a.m.

A faulty accelerator was blamed for a collision Monday at 7:10 p.m. at W. 6th and Jackson Sts. that involved a 1964 sedan driven by Paula L. Delposen, 25, of 1206 Commerce St., Wellsville, and a 1965 four-door sedan operated by George R. Beach, 59, of 1039 Oak St.

The woman said she was driving east on W. 6th St. and as she came to the Jackson St. intersection the other auto pulled through a red traffic light from Jackson St. and drove the wrong way on the one-way section of W. 6th, striking her auto. The other auto failed to halt, she said.

Beach told police the gas feed of his auto stuck to the floor and to avoid an accident with two other cars, he drove west on W. 6th St. After getting his car under control, he went to the police station to report the mishap. The Delposen car was damaged in the right rear. The Beach car was undamaged.

A mishap at 5th and Market Sts. at 3:25 p.m. damaged a 1962 sedan driven by Robert R. Cunningham, 19, of Lisbon St. and a 1965 sedan operated by Okey Hissom, 51, of 1510 Chester Ave.

Both vehicles were headed west on 5th St. Cunningham had halted in a bus stop zone and was pulling away from the curb while Hissom was pulling from the left hand lane of traffic into the right hand lane when the collision occurred, officers said.

Sponsored Chicago Disorders

Anti-War Group Plans Protests At Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The same group that sponsored anti-war demonstrations during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago says it will stage three days of "counter-Inaugural" protests during Richard M. Nixon's inauguration festivities.

The National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam is organizing the demonstration and seeking parade and rally permits to accommodate as many as 10,000 persons.

But "there is no plan for civil disobedience," said Mobilization Coordinator Rennie Davis. The 28-year-old Davis, advance man for the committee here as he was in Chicago, told an interviewer:

"We do not intend in any way to disrupt any official ceremonies or inauguration activities.

"We are very clear about not wanting any physical confrontation with police."

The Chicago protests resulted in bloody street fighting between police and demonstrators.

The Mobilization's plans call for a "Counter-Inaugural Parade" on Sunady, Jan. 19, the day before the inauguration. The demonstrators want to march with banners down the Nixon parade route in reverse, from the White House to the Capitol.

A "Counter-Inaugural Ball" also is planned. The Mobilization hopes to stage a rally on a section of the Ellipse, and to set up sound equipment.

On Inauguration day the demonstrators want an area of a block or so designated for them on the parade route—enough for an estimated 5,000 to 10,000 protesters with placards and banners. Negotiations for permits have began with various federal agencies and District of Columbia offices. These apparently are still in the sparring stage.

When asked whether the Mobilization expected to find Washington authorities more amenable to such requests than Mayor Richard J. Daley's administration in Chicago, Davis replied:

"Well, I'm sure that the last thing Mr. Nixon wants on the day of his inauguration is another Chicago."

Heading the whole operation from Mobilization's office in New York is David Dellinger, 52, a leader in organizing the march on the Pentagon Oct. 21, 1967, as well as the Chicago demonstrations.

$56,375 Seen As Yield For Car Licenses

Figures obtained from Fred Rice, state registrar of motor vehicles, indicate $56,375 will be raised through a $5-a-year local motor vehicle tax law enacted by Council Saturday, Solicitor J. Michael Kapp said today.

Kapp said the registrar reported 11,275 motor vehicles of all types were registered to East Liverpool individuals and firms in 1967. Previous unofficial estimates had placed the number of vehicles at 9,000, which would have meant a $45,000-a-year yield.

Council enacted the legislation under suspension of rules at a special meeting Saturday. Members emphasized the funds will be used entirely for street improvements and maintenance, particularly to finance the annual low-cost summer surfacing program in which the city splits the cost with property owners on a 50-50 basis.

Funds from the license tax also will be used to apply biennial surface treatments to streets previously improved in the low-cost program. The surface treatments are paid for entirely with city funds.

The new city tax becomes effective Jan. 1. Vehicle owners presumably will pay the additional fee when they go to a registrar's office early in the spring to buy new Ohio tags.

Flood Of Phony Money Expected To Hit Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Hundreds of counterfeit $20 bills are expected to be circulated in Greater Cleveland area today and tonight, the U.S. Attorney's Office warned Monday.

"In recent weeks counterfeit notes amounting to $50,000 have been passed in the Greater Cleveland area," said Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert L. Turoff.

"Merchants should refuse to accept any $20 bill that looks the least bit suspicious."

He said that gangs responsible for passing the notes are expected to be out in force New Year's Eve when money usually changes hands rapidly at night clubs and other entertainment spots.

Turoff said police found two counterfeit $20 bills hidden inside the wallet of a 28-year-old Euclid man arrested for failure to pay a court fee.

The man, Gary Dale Harris, was charged with possession of counterfeit bills and his case continued Monday until Jan. 15 by U.S. Commissioner Clifford E. Bruce.

Harris, who faces three other federal charges, was free on $2,500 bond.

In April, he was arrested and charged with passing a forged government check worth $111.70.

The following month, he was charged with selling counterfeit $100 money notes worth $18,000. The third charge involved interstate transportation of stolen money orders.

Two Will Face Jury In Bad Check Charge

An East Liverpool man and an AWOL soldier will face the Beaver County Grand Jury on charges of passing bad checks.

They waived a hearing before Squire Leroy Gibbs of Brighton Township.

A detainer has been filed by Army officials in Pittsburgh against Thomas McPherson, believed AWOL from Ft. Meade, Md. He is charged with "conspiring to commit a crime and forgery."

Donald DePue of East Liverpool is charged with "conspiring to commit an unlawful act." He previously had pleaded guilty to passing worthless checks.

Budget Approved

INDUSTRY — The budget of $56,434 received final approval during a special meeting Monday night of Industry Borough Council. The next session will be Jan. 8.

Cracks On Moon Believed As Result Of Earthquakes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Cracks on the moon found in Apollo 8 pictures may be the result of quakes on the lunar surface, a geologist for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday.

John W. Dietrich said rilles on the surface of them "appear to be tension features," caused by contraction of the delicate surface material.

"We see similar things on earth," he said. He compared the character of the rilles as like that of arroyos in the western United States.

The three astronauts, Air Force Col. Frank Borman, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr., and Air Force Lt. Col. William A. Anders continued to talk into tape recorders about their impressions of the moon and their trip around it.

Several space agency officials said a behind-the-scenes move is under way to have the moon mariners make their next public appearance in Washington, possibly with a ticker tape parade and a meeting with President Johnson.

Dietrich said a picture taken by the Apollo 8 crew of a large crater showed parallel faults ripping through it from one side to the other, a feature called "graben" on earth.

Dietrich said there were rilles that had the characteristics of meandering rivers or streams "at first glance," but that scientists are divided about whether they were caused by water.

"I personally think that if water had any effect, it was only minor," he said.

One explanation for the cracked features on the moon's surface, he said, is that they are caused by mud drying and separating.

"I personally dislike that explanation," he said.

The scientist said no explanation has been found for the faint color which has shown up in some of the Apollo 8 photographs of the moon which the space agency has released.

Dietrich said the processing of the film has been eliminated as a source of the color, but it's believed it could have come from a temporary coating of the spacecraft windows.

All the surface, he said, is probably like the "dirty beach sand" the astronauts described it.

He said there was little that was surprising in the lunar film brought back by the Apollo 8 astronauts. He said many questions about the moon had been answered by pictures from Lunar Orbiter satellites, which earlier circled the moon, and Surveyor, which soft-landed on the surface.

He said the Apollo 8's pictures of the backside were much better than those from Orbiter, which flew an eliptical path and was very high above the lunar backside.

"The astronauts gave us what we asked for on content," Dietrich said, but the volume of the photos will require weeks of study before their precise scientific value can be established.

Also to be studied are the reports from the astronauts who are spending eight hours each day meeting with scientists and space officials, answering questions and telling what they saw, felt and did during their six-day flight.

They will get their first day off in weeks on New Year's Day then the debriefing will resume Jan. 2 and continue until Jan. 8. A news conference is scheduled that day but space officials said it might be replaced by a Washington ceremony.

The space agency Monday released the first movies of the crew inside their space cabin. They showed Lovell and Anders going through routine on-board duties.

The film included one sequence showing Lovell working with equipment while two flashlights hang suspended in weightlessness. Just as the scene shifts, the hand of one of the other crewmen reaches out, gives one of the flashlights a nudge, and it spins rapidly in midair.

Foulks Resigns His Trustee Post

The resignation of Lorain Foulks as a St. Clair Township trustee was accepted during the final meeting of the trustees Monday night.

Foulks, who had been in failing health for some time, is a patient at Geraldine's Nursing Home. He had served three years of his four-year term. An appointment will be made soon, trustees said.

Requests for slag were heard for Carroll and Moore roads and a request was received for a sewer inspection in the McCaughtry Addition.

A parking problem along the Cannons Mills Rd. was discussed.

Bills totaling $4,217 were paid.

A reorganizational meeting will be held Jan. 6.

Driver Flees Crash Scene, Eludes Chase

Eluding pursuit by a Lake County man whose car he had hit, a hit-skip driver fled the scene of a crash early this morning on the East Liverpool approach to the Chester Bridge, police reported.

Raymond D. Kolozy, 32, of Painesville told officers he had just turned right from E. 3rd St. toward the bridge when he saw an oncoming car was left of the center line. Kolozy said he halted, but the other auto struck his 1964 sedan, causing light damage to the left front door and left rear fender.

As the other car sped away, Kolozy turned his auto and gave chase, but the hit-skip car eluded him on College St., he said. Kolozy gave police a description of the other auto. The crash was timed at 2 a.m.

A faulty accelerator was blamed for a collision Monday at 7:10 p.m. at W. 6th and Jackson Sts. that involved a 1964 sedan driven by Paula L. Delposen, 25, of 1206 Commerce St., Wellsville, and a 1965 four-door sedan operated by George R. Beach, 59, of 1039 Oak St.

The woman said she was driving east on W. 6th St. and as she came to the Jackson St. intersection the other auto pulled through a red traffic light from Jackson St. and drove the wrong way on the one-way section of W. 6th, striking her auto. The other auto failed to halt, she said.

Beach told police the gas feed of his auto stuck to the floor and to avoid an accident with two other cars, he drove west on W. 6th St. After getting his car under control, he went to the police station to report the mishap. The Delposen car was damaged in the right rear. The Beach car was undamaged.

A mishap at 5th and Market Sts. at 3:25 p.m. damaged a 1962 sedan driven by Robert R. Cunningham, 19, of Lisbon St. and a 1965 sedan operated by Okey Hissom, 51, of 1510 Chester Ave.

Both vehicles were headed west on 5th St. Cunningham had halted in a bus stop zone and was pulling away from the curb while Hissom was pulling from the left hand lane of traffic into the right hand lane when the collision occurred, officers said.

Sponsored Chicago Disorders

Anti-War Group Plans Protests At Inauguration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The same group that sponsored anti-war demonstrations during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago says it will stage three days of "counter-Inaugural" protests during Richard M. Nixon's inauguration festivities.

The National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam is organizing the demonstration and seeking parade and rally permits to accommodate as many as 10,000 persons.

But "there is no plan for civil disobedience," said Mobilization Coordinator Rennie Davis. The 28-year-old Davis, advance man for the committee here as he was in Chicago, told an interviewer:

"We do not intend in any way to disrupt any official ceremonies or inauguration activities.

"We are very clear about not wanting any physical confrontation with police."

The Chicago protests resulted in bloody street fighting between police and demonstrators.

The Mobilization's plans call for a "Counter-Inaugural Parade" on Sunady, Jan. 19, the day before the inauguration. The demonstrators want to march with banners down the Nixon parade route in reverse, from the White House to the Capitol.

A "Counter-Inaugural Ball" also is planned. The Mobilization hopes to stage a rally on a section of the Ellipse, and to set up sound equipment.

On Inauguration day the demonstrators want an area of a block or so designated for them on the parade route—enough for an estimated 5,000 to 10,000 protesters with placards and banners. Negotiations for permits have began with various federal agencies and District of Columbia offices. These apparently are still in the sparring stage.

When asked whether the Mobilization expected to find Washington authorities more amenable to such requests than Mayor Richard J. Daley's administration in Chicago, Davis replied:

"Well, I'm sure that the last thing Mr. Nixon wants on the day of his inauguration is another Chicago."

Heading the whole operation from Mobilization's office in New York is David Dellinger, 52, a leader in organizing the march on the Pentagon Oct. 21, 1967, as well as the Chicago demonstrations.

Invitations to the counter-inauguration have been sent to scores of peace groups across the country. Mobilization spokesmen here said acceptances have been received from a number of them.

Father, Son Claimed By Monoxide Fumes

The victims were Blenn Barker, 45, and Andrew Barker, 75. They were the only occupants of the apartment. A defective flue and space heater caused the deaths, authorities said.

The landlord discovered the bodies, after neighbors reported they hadn't seen the men in several days.

Akron Man Bound Over For Bigamy

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 39-year-old man accused of being married to two women at the same time was bound over to the Cuyahoga County grand jury Monday on a bigamy charge by Bedford Municipal Court Judge Joseph A. Zingales.

Homer Amnons Jr., an Akron truck driver and Bedford painter, was released on $2,500 bond.

He was arrested last Friday when he arrived at his home in Bedford, where he lived with his wife, Barbara, and their 3-year-old daughter.

Police said Ammons had come from his home in Akron, where he lived with his wife, Caroline, and their two daughters, 14 and 12 years old.

He was tripped up by a charge account at a department store chain when a bill from the Akron branch of the store was sent to his Bedford home, police said.

Officers said he has been married to his Akron wife for 15 years and has worked in that city as a local truck driver. For the past five years he has been living with his wife in Bedford on weekends while holding down a painting job in that community, police said.

They added that Ammons told his wife in Bedford that he was spending his weekdays in Akron with a daughter by a previous marriage who was sick. There was a third marriage, but that ended in divorce in 1950, police said.

The warrant for Ammons' arrest was signed by his wife in Bedford after police discovered there was a Mrs. Ammons in Akron.

Shopping Center In Massillon Hit By $200,000 Fire

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Fire did an estimated $200,000 damage Monday night to stores in a shopping center on the northeast Massillon city limits.

People in the stores when the fire started around 6 p.m. got out safely. No injuries were reported.

The fire began in an IGA Supermarket which was gutted by the flames, and spread to a drug store and a barbershop. The remaining stores, a floral shop, an insurance agency, a bank and a medical arts building received smoke damage.

The fire, in Perry Heights, was fought by that suburb's fire department which called in Massillon firemen and volunteers from Jackson, Richville, Avondale, and Reedurban Townships.

Firemen brought the fire under control but were still on the scene at midnight. They said they would remain at the shopping center all night in case the flames rekindled.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Personalities In The News

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Robert Taylor has been released from St. John's Hospital after treatment for complications after a lung cancer operation.

Taylor, 57, was released Monday for the third time in three months and went into seclusion at his 113-acre ranch in nearby Mandeville Canyon.

The star's left lung was removed Oct. 8. He entered the hospital for this stay on Dec. 13.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Nancy Sinatra and Jack Haley Jr., who directed two of her television specials, plan to marry.

A spokesman for the 28-year-old daughter of Frank Sinatra says the couple became engaged Sunday. No date for the wedding has been set.

The announcement Monday took friends of the couple by surprise. The pair had been dating for about six months, but Miss Sinatra recently moved into a "bachelor girls" estate in Beverly Hills.

Haley, 35, won an Emmy last year for his direction of Miss Sinatra's "Movin' with Nancy" special. He also directed her in the "Ice Capades of 1969" special, scheduled to be broadcast Feb. 16.

It will be the first marriage for Haley, son of the actor-comedian, and the second for Miss Sinatra. Her first husband was singer Tommy Sands. They had no children.

Akron Man Bound Over For Bigamy

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 39-year-old man accused of being married to two women at the same time was bound over to the Cuyahoga County grand jury Monday on a bigamy charge by Bedford Municipal Court Judge Joseph A. Zingales.

Homer Ammons Jr., an Akron truck driver and Bedford painter, was released on $2,500 bond.

He was arrested last Friday when he arrived at his home in Bedford, where he lived with his wife, Barbara, and their 3-year-old daughter.

Police said Ammons had come from his home in Akron, where he lived with his wife, Caroline, and their two daughters, 14 and 12 years old.

He was tripped up by a charge account at a department store chain when a bill from the Akron branch of the store was sent to his Bedford home, police said.

Officers said he has been married to his Akron wife for 15 years and has worked in that city as a local truck driver. For the past five years he has been living with his wife in Bedford on weekends while holding down a painting job in that community, police said.

They added that Ammons told his wife in Bedford that he was spending his weekdays in Akron with a daughter by a previous marriage who was sick. There was a third marriage, but that ended in divorce in 1950, police said.

The warrant for Ammons' arrest was signed by his wife in Bedford after police discovered there was a Mrs. Ammons in Akron.

Pueblo

per, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, that the Pueblo crew was terrorized and beaten by the North Koreans.

As the two men spoke at San Diego Naval Hospital, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford was ordering Secretary of Navy Paul Ignatius to conduct an inquiry into the crew's treatment by North Korea.

A few hours later, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said at Winder, Ga., that he felt the crew should have scuttled the intelligence ship rather than let its secret equipment fall into enemy hands.

"I want to see just what orders the commander was given," Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in an interview with Atlanta radio and television station WSB.

The Navy declined comment.

Russell also said, "Those men are being hailed as heroes. They are heroes in the sense that they survived the imprisonment. But they did sign a great many statements that did not reflect any great heroism in my mind. I'll have to investigate further to see just what hero-type things they performed."

Bucher said he signed a confession of violating North Korean territorial waters because his captors had threatened to kill his crew.

Law, of Chehalis, Wash., and Hayes, of Columbus, Ohio, described their captors as stupid, mercurial and violently anti-American. "That's what their whole people are based on, is despising Americans," said Law.

Hayes said his jaw was broken in a beating and added that the North Koreans "know how to hate. We haven't learned yet."

Asked whether the pair's treatment was typical, a Navy spokesman said, "Everyone else is busy."

The stocky, dark-haired Law said that on Dec. 12, after his captors learned the meaning of the gesture in the picture and "realized they weren't as smart as they thought they were," he was beaten by a corporal as four North Korean officers looked on.

"I was beaten with a two-by-two about four or five feet long," Law said. "The guard . . . was striking me across the shoulders and the back with it. His stick broke in half on one of the blows and he kept on using the two halves until it ended up in four pieces.

"He left and came back with a four-by-four" and applied "a few blows on the vicinity of the shoulders and the back . . . this was followed by a various assortment of kicks and fists to various parts of the body . . . "

In all, he said, he received between 250 and 300 blows.

Hayes, slightly built, said he "wasn't beaten near as bad as many other people" but still was pummeled with fists shortly before the crew's release Dec. 22. His jaw was broken "about six or seven times," he said, "and I was kicked in the stomach and the groin and on kneecaps."

In New York, Newsweek magazine said of the Pueblo's capture that the ship's "two .50-caliber machine guns remained plugged and covered with tarpaulins throughout the incident."

The magazine said in its Jan. 6 issue that the guns had been installed only weeks before "and the Navy had not gotten around to training the Pueblo crewmen in their operation." The report quoted Lt. Edward R. Murphy, executive officer of the Pueblo, but a Navy spokesman in San Diego denied that Murphy had made the statements.

Carolyn V. Snow Marries In Ceremonies At Church

A Colonial-style gown of Crantilly lace and satin was worn by Miss Carolyn V. Snow when she became the bride of Ralph Coursin Dec. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Church of the Nazarene.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Snow of Chester RD 1. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Coursin of the Old Fredericktown Rd.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Howard W. Hill before an altar background of palms, ferns, pine and candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews. Jeff Capehart was organist, Mrs. Ruth Griffin pianist and Mrs. Ruby Rutter and Thurman Allen soloists.

THE BRIDE was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her full-length gown, accented with sequins, was designed with a fitted bodice, scalloped neckline and long, pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt of tiers cascaded into a chapel-length train.

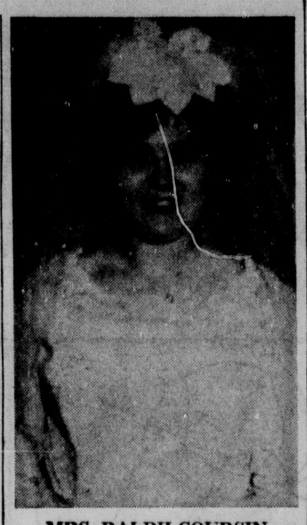
Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a cluster of leaves outlined with seed pearls and teardrops. She wore a pendant necklace, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and satin streamers. The traditions were observed.

Mrs. Shirley Feezle, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a full-length gown of royal blue velvet fashioned with a satin Watteau panel. Her headpiece was a matching cluster of velvet bows and streamers holding a shoulder-length veil of silk illusion.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Linda Snow, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Jean McCormick. They appeared in gowns and headpieces designed identical to that of the matron of honor, except in purple. All the attendants carried Colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

Bonnie Ann Feezle, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a royal blue velvet dress with matching bow on her head. She carried a basket of pink rose petals.

David Coursin served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Bruce Coursin and Walter Barrett, his cousins, and John Snow and Willis Snow, brothers of the bride. Douglas Feezle, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.



MRS. RALPH COURSIN
Residing Here After Rites.

The mother of the bride chose a turquoise and gold dress and the bridegroom's mother a pink dress. Black accessories and pink rosebud carnation corsages complemented their attire.

—:—

Aides were Mrs. Loretta Ruthem, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Marilyn Shroades, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Helen Hickman, Mrs. Roberta Ruthem and Miss Susan Ruthem. Miss Linda Ash presided at the guest register.

Following a honeymoon tour, the newlyweds are residing at 818 St. Clair Ave. The bride wore a three-piece blue ensemble with black accessories and her bridal corsage for traveling.

The bride was graduated in 1966 from Oak Glen High School and in 1967 from the A. & H. School of Beauty Culture. She is employed at Carousel Coiffures. The bridegroom, a 1964 graduate of Beaver Local High School, is an employe of the Homer Laughlin China Co.

The bridegroom's parents entertained for the rehearsal party.

Virus Attack Plagues Paul

An attack of virus plagued little Paul McCraw Monday at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh, where he continues to await a kidney transplant that may prolong his life.

Mrs. Erma McCraw of Mulberry St., mother of the 9-year-old, said her son was "pretty uncomfortable" yesterday, but his condition seemed improved last night. The kidney transplant promised the 36-pound youngster on Dec. 24 still has not materialized, she added.

Paul was troubled with frequent coughing and lack of appetite yesterday, but seemed improved last night, Mrs. McCraw said. His trouble was diagnosed as a virus, but not necessarily the flu, she added.

Paul was taken to the Veterans Administration Hospital yesterday for another treatment on an artificial kidney machine. He now is scheduled to receive the treatments each Monday and Thursday.

Paul suffered a severe reaction to the machine's treatment yesterday, but rallied under physicians' care.

Paul's kidneys, attacked by a rare, progressive disease, have all but ceased to function and his life now depends upon the regular treatments with the machine to cleanse his blood, Mrs. McCraw reported.

"I do not think he would be alive now without those treatments," she said.

Funds donated by the public to aid the youngster and his family stand now at $1,922.

Some of the larger donations previously unreported are: A collection in the Mt. Acres Trailer Court by Cheryl Croxall and Sherry Webber, $17.81; Renaissance Club, $3; sixth grade at Chester Intermediate School, $10.30; Wellsville Elks Lodge 1040, $27; employes of the Potters Bank & Trust Co., $25, and a collection made in Chester by Trudy Gorby and Beverly Brown, $21.34.

Robbery

W. 3rd St. in a car believed to be a white Chevrolet convertible—a 1965 to 1967 model.

Mrs. Walton said she did not see a gun at any time. As the two entered the office, the red-haired man asked for the money order, she related. She went to the rear of the office to look for it, then returned to report it was not there.

As she approached the front counter, the dark-haired man told her: "Don't do anything wrong. I want all the money you have."

Mrs. Walton pulled two small drawers from a desk and placed them on top of the counter. The men removed the money. Five or six money order forms also were taken. Then the phone rang and as Mrs. Walton answered it the two fled out the front door. She observed the car moving south on Market and turning west on 3rd St., which would take it to the Freeway.

The robbers escaped pursuit, although police, sheriff's deputies and Ohio Highway Patrol cars set up roadblocks throughout the area within minutes.

Permanent Site Picked For WVU Graduate School

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — A 65-acre complex near the State Capitol has been picked as the permanent site for West Virginia University's Kanawha Valley Graduate School.

The WVU Foundation purchased the property, which will be re-sold to the University's Board of Governors, for $72,000.

Officials said one bloc of land, including the Hillcrest Sanitarium, was sold by the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Kanawha County. The Alexander Corp. sold the remaining 23-acre bloc of property.

University President James G. Harlow said the site will be easily accessible for many students throughout southern and central West Virginia "without forcing them to seek parking spaces in congested places."

The five-building complex is in the Ruffner Heights section of Charleston.

Kennedy

humor." He insisted that, win or lose, the contest would not impair his friendship for Kennedy.

The Louisiana senator said he and Kennedy had differed in the past on matters of importance, but "such differences have left no lasting mark on our friendship or our respect for each other."

Long aides said they believe he has the support of at least 30 of the 57 Democrats.

A White House spokesman said President Johnson, in Texas for the New Year's holiday, would have no comment on Kennedy's bid.

Kennedy, first elected in 1962, pitched his bid on what he said is the obligation of congressional Democrats, with a Republican in the White House, "to present the best possible programs in keeping with our historic role as the party of progress and change in the United States."

He thus laid the grounds for a fight by the Senate's Democratic liberals against their more conservative colleagues for a voice in party councils the Massachusetts senator said must produce the Democratic political leadership in the next four years.

One of Kennedy's claims was that he could help Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana more than Long, since Long must divide his time as chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee.

Of Kennedy's chief sponsors, Humphrey will have no vote in the party caucus and Muskie already had rejected efforts to get him into the race against Long.

Muskie, who made a favorable impression on many Democrats in the presidential campaign, has made it known he wants to be free to "speak out on major issues outside the senate to a national constituency," as one of his aides put it.

While the whip duties might restrict Kennedy on this score, Mansfield has named several assistants to fill in when the whip is busy elsewhere.

My Neighbors

"You name it...we'll protest it..."

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I make my own silver polish?

A.—Procure loose prepared chalk from your druggist and combine this with ammonia to make a paste. Rub on the silver with a rough cloth, rinse the silver in piping hot water, dry it briskly with another cloth, and the job is done. Keep your little jar of homemade polish tightly covered while not in use—and if it does dry up, just add more ammonia.

Q.—How can I, when washing wool sweaters or other wool garments, keep them soft?

A.—By adding one or two tablespoons of glycerin to lukewarm water when rinsing these items.

Q.—How can I clean a scorched iron?

A.—With plain silver polish.

Q.—How can I make a filler for cracks in wood?

A.—By mixing flour with enough brown shellac to make a paste, rubbing this filler on the wood and, after it has dried completely, sandpapering the surface smooth, then rubbing with a soft cloth that has been dampened with a little oil and thin shellac.

Q.—How can I prepare a special and tasty soup - combination?

A.—Green pea soup and cream of chicken soup, mixed with milk or cream and topped with a sprinkle of curry, makes a combination of flavors that's unusual and delicious.

Q.—How can I heat several kinds of baby food more quickly and easily?

A—Try making use of a two or three - cup egg poacher. When the food is warm, lift it from the tray, and feed baby directly from the cups.

Q.—Our family's clothes and those of guests are forever snagging on unsuspected rough spots on our furniture. How can I deal with this?

A.—You can easily detect these clothes - snagging rough spots if you'll dust your furniture with an old silk garment or hose. Then rub down those rough spots with a fingernail file.

Q.—How can I remove carrot juice stains from washable fabrics?

A— These will usually yield to ordinary laundering. But if not, treat the stained area with a solution of water and neutral detergent.

Q.—How can I whiten my rather grimy - looking cellar steps?

A.—A little kerosene added to your wash water will help.

Q.—My brick fireplace is a real dirt-catcher. Is there any way I can keep it looking clean for a longer time?

A.—If you'll brush the surface of the bricks with liquid wax, dust won't accumulate so quickly and can easily be wiped off when it does.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Thomas Jefferson's achievements and interests, seemingly unlimited, have long been objects of marvel. President John F. Kennedy wittily expressed admiration for the virtuosity and versatility of the third president when he remarked at a White House gathering of artists and authors that this was the greatest concentration of talent at the White House since Jefferson dined alone.

Alaska's Katmai National Monument, twice the size of Delaware and the largest of all U.S. national parks and monuments, was visited by only 1,200 people in 1967. In 1912, one of history's greatest volcanic eruptions took place in Katmai. The wastes in one valley are still desolate enough to provide astronauts with rock samples similar to what might be found on the moon.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Even though Antarctica is snow - covered, it is the world's largest desert. Half the size of the United States, this frozen wasteland surrounding the South Pole receives only six inches of snow yearly, which equals ½-inch of rain. Death Valley, in summer the hottest and driest place in the nation, receives more moisture than that.

Shopping Center In Massillon Hit By $200,000 Fire

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — Fire did an estimated $200,000 damage Monday night to stores in a shopping center on the northeast Massillon city limits.

People in the stores when the fire started around 6 p.m. got out safely. No injuries were reported.

The fire began in an IGA Supermarket which was gutted by the flames, and spread to a drug store and a barbershop. The remaining stores, a floral shop, an insurance agency, a bank and a medical arts building received smoke damage.

The fire, in Perry Heights, was fought by that suburb's fire department which called in Massillon firemen and volunteers from Jackson, Richville, Avondale, and Reedurban Townships.

Firemen brought the fire under control but were still on the scene at midnight. They said they would remain at the shopping center all night in case the flames rekindled.

Cause of the fire was not immediately determined.

Judge Tobin Sets Action In 2 Truancy Cases Here

Critical of school administrators for not enforcing state truancy laws, Judge Louis Tobin of Juvenile Court in Lisbon has taken action against a boy and girl in two cases here.

Larry Abbott, 16, son of Everett and Virginia Abbott of 916 Peake St., has been ordered to be in classes next Monday or face the possibility of being sentenced to the Boys Industrial School.

A hearing has been scheduled Jan. 28 for Bonnie Carmen, 15, daughter of Betty Carmen of 223 E. 3rd St.

THE JUDGE acted after a routine check of school records disclosed that neither youngster had been in school since the term opened in September. He also ordered that charges be filed against the parents.

A hearing was held for Abbott Dec. 24, with the judge noting the boy was old enough to have a work certificate, but did not.

The latest action in the cases came Monday during a meeting in the judge's office at Lisbon attended by Carl Pelini, assistant superintendent of schools here; County Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis; Juvenile Officers James Miller and Ed Hedrick, and Ronald Gause, special investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Tobin, upset over the situation, cited sections of the state code which holds parents or guardians responsible for seeing that their children attend school.

In criticizing school authorities for not filing charges against the parents, Tobin said, "This situation cannot be allowed to continue. The parents will be charged and they will be punished. This court will not tolerate the non-enforcement of state law pertaining to school attendance."

HE THEN directed Bettis to file charges for the school board if the city solicitor fails to do so.

East Liverpool Solicitor Michael Kapp emphatically denied ever having refused to file charges for anybody at any time so far as schools are concerned. He said former attendance officer Harold West had never requested such action by his office. It had been intimated that Kapp had refused to file charges when asked by West to do so.

Pelini upheld Kapp in pointing out that school authorities never had experienced any problems with the solicitor's office in obtaining rulings on legislation or obtaining legislation from the solicitor.

the charges read. Each asked a continuance to allow time to obtain counsel, so no pleas were entered. The court set $10,000 appearance bonds for each man.

Cadaret, a short, bald man, appeared in court in an orange sport shirt and dark slacks. Payne, tall and wearing a beard, appeared in a dark sweater and slacks.

Police obtained a search warrant in Municipal Court yesterday to examine Payne's car, which was impounded after the two men were arrested. The .38 pistol allegedly was found under the front seat.

The men are accused of a robbery at 1:20 a. m. Monday in which the $92 was taken from Otto D. Davis of E. 3rd St., a station attendant.

Armed with a description of the auto and the gunman which was broadcast shortly after the robbery, Conkle took the pair into custody on Jefferson St. The arrest was timed at 3:56.

The same station was robbed late the night of Dec. 22 by a gunman who concealed his face with a ski mask.

Action Will Seek New Weir Vote

WEIRTON (AP) — A suit calling for a new election of Weirton city officials is due to be filed in Hancock County Circuit Court.

The suit, contemplated by Samuel J. Iaquinta Sr. of Weirton, will contend the election of Weirton Mayor Frank A. Rybka and the city council was unconstitutional because it violated the 1966 "one man-one vote" ruling by the Supreme Court.

Iaquinta claims the alignment of voting wards in the city is lopsided.

Mayor Rybka said the city council has been in session on "numerous occasions" in an attempt to redistrict the city's voting wards.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I make my own silver polish?

A.—Procure loose prepared chalk from your druggist and combine this with ammonia to make a paste. Rub on the silver with a rough cloth, rinse the silver in piping hot water, dry it briskly with another cloth, and the job is done. Keep your little jar of homemade polish tightly covered while not in use—and if it does dry up, just add more ammonia.

Q.—How can I, when washing wool sweaters or other wool garments, keep them soft?

A.—By adding one or two tablespoons of glycerin to lukewarm water when rinsing these items.

Q.—How can I clean a scorched iron?

A.—With plain silver polish.

Q.—How can I make a filler for cracks in wood?

A.—By mixing flour with enough brown shellac to make a paste, rubbing this filler on the wood and, after it has dried completely, sandpapering the surface smooth, then rubbing with a soft cloth that has been dampened with a little oil and thin shellac.

Q.—How can I prepare a special and tasty soup - combination?

A.—Green pea soup and cream of chicken soup, mixed with milk or cream and topped with a sprinkle of curry, makes a combination of flavors that's unusual and delicious.

Q.—How can I heat several kinds of baby food more quickly and easily?

A—Try making use of a two or three - cup egg poacher. When the food is warm, lift it from the tray, and feed baby directly from the cups.

Q.—Our family's clothes and those of guests are forever snagging on unsuspected rough spots on our furniture. How can I deal with this?

A.—You can easily detect these clothes - snagging rough spots if you'll dust your furniture with an old silk garment or hose. Then rub down those rough spots with a fingernail file.

Q.—How can I remove carrot juice stains from washable fabrics?

A— These will usually yield to ordinary laundering. But if not, treat the stained area with a solution of water and neutral detergent.

Q.—How can I whiten my rather grimy - looking cellar steps?

A.—A little kerosene added to your wash water will help.

Q.—My brick fireplace is a real dirt-catcher. Is there any way I can keep it looking clean for a longer time?

A.—If you'll brush the surface of the bricks with liquid wax, dust won't accumulate so quickly and can easily be wiped off when it does.

A full - grown chimpanzee is almost five times as strong as a well - developed human male athlete.

per, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, that the Pueblo crew was terrorized and beaten by the North Koreans.

As the two men spoke at San Diego Naval Hospital, Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford was ordering Secretary of Navy Paul Ignatius to conduct an inquiry into the crew's treatment by North Korea.

A few hours later, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said at Winder, Ga., that he felt the crew should have scuttled the intelligence ship rather than let its secret equipment fall into enemy hands.

"I want to see just what orders the commander was given," Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in an interview with Atlanta radio and television station WSB.

The Navy declined comment.

Russell also said, "Those men are being hailed as heroes. They are heroes in the sense that they survived the imprisonment. But they did sign a great many statements that did not reflect any great heroism in my mind. I'll have to investigate further to see just what hero-type things they performed."

Bucher said he signed a confession of violating North Korean territorial waters because his captors had threatened to kill his crew.

Law, of Chehalis, Wash., and Hayes, of Columbus, Ohio, described their captors as stupid, mercurial and violently anti-American. "That's what their whole people are based on, is despising Americans," said Law.

Hayes said his jaw was broken in a beating and added that the North Koreans "know how to hate. We haven't learned yet."

Asked whether the pair's treatment was typical, a Navy spokesman said, "Everyone else is busy."

The stocky, dark-haired Law said that on Dec. 12, after his captors learned the meaning of the gesture in the picture and "realized they weren't as smart as they thought they were," he was beaten by a corporal as four North Korean officers looked on.

"I was beaten with a two-by-two about four or five feet long," Law said. "The guard . . . was striking me across the shoulders and the back with it. His stick broke in half on one of the blows and he kept on using the two halves until it ended up in four pieces.

"He left and came back with a four-by-four" and applied "a few blows on the vicinity of the shoulders and the back . . . this was followed by a various assortment of kicks and fists to various parts of the body . . . "

In all, he said, he received between 250 and 500 blows.

Hayes, slightly built, said he "wasn't beaten near as bad as many other people" but still was pummeled with fists shortly before the crew's release Dec. 22. His jaw was broken "about six or seven times," he said, "and I was kicked in the stomach and the groin and on kneecaps."

In New York, Newsweek magazine said of the Pueblo's capture that the ship's "two .50-caliber machine guns remained plugged and covered with tarpaulins throughout the incident."

The magazine said in its Jan. 6 issue that the guns had been installed only weeks before "and the Navy had not gotten around to training the Pueblo crewmen in their operation." The report quoted Lt. Edward R. Murphy, executive officer of the Pueblo, but a Navy spokesman in San Diego denied that Murphy had made the statements.

Carolyn V. Snow Marries In Ceremonies At Church

A Colonial-style gown of Crantilly lace and satin was worn by Miss Carolyn V. Snow when she became the bride of Ralph Coursin Dec. 20 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Church of the Nazarene.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Snow of Chester RD 1. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Coursin of the Old Fredericktown Rd.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Howard W. Hill before an altar background of palms, ferns, pine and candelabra. Satin bows marked the family pews. Jeff Capehart was organist, Mrs. Ruth Griffin pianist and Mrs. Ruby Rutter and Thurman Allen soloists.

THE BRIDE was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her full-length gown, accented with sequins, was designed with a fitted bodice, scalloped neckline and long, pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt of tiers cascaded into a chapel-length train.

Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a cluster of leaves outlined with seed pearls and teardrops. She wore a pendant necklace, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and satin streamers. The traditions were observed.

Mrs. Shirley Feezle, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a full-length gown of royal blue velvet fashioned with a satin Watteau panel. Her headpiece was a matching cluster of velvet bows and streamers holding a shoulder-length veil of silk illusion.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Linda Snow, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Jean McCormick. They appeared in gowns and headpieces designed identical to that of the matron of honor, except in purple. All the attendants carried Colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

Bonnie Ann Feezle, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a royal blue velvet dress with matching bow on her head. She carried a basket of pink rose petals.

David Coursin served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Bruce Coursin and Walter Barrett, his cousins, and John Snow and Willis Snow, brothers of the bride. Douglas Feezle, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer.

The mother of the bride chose a turquoise and gold dress and the bridegroom's mother a pink dress. Black accessories and pink rosebud carnation corsages complemented their attire.

Aides were Mrs. Loretta Ruthem, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Marilyn Shroades, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Helen Hickman, Mrs. Roberta Ruthem and Miss Susan Ruthem. Miss Linda Ash presided at the guest register.

Following a honeymoon tour, the newlyweds are residing at 818 St. Clair Ave. The bride wore a three-piece blue ensemble with black accessories and her bridal corsage for traveling.

The bride was graduated in 1966 from Oak Glen High School and in 1967 from the A. & H. School of Beauty Culture. She is employed at Carousel Coiffures. The bridegroom, a 1964 graduate of Beaver Local High School, is an employe of the Homer Laughlin China Co.

The bridegroom's parents entertained for the rehearsal party.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Thomas Jefferson's achievements and interests, seemingly unlimited, have long been objects of marvel. President John F. Kennedy wittily expressed admiration for the virtuosity and versatility of the third president when he remarked at a White House gathering of artists and authors that this was the greatest concentration of talent at the White House since Jefferson dined alone.

Alaska's Katmai National Monument, twice the size of Delaware and the largest of all U.S. national parks and monuments, was visited by only 1,200 people in 1967. In 1912, one of history's greatest volcanic eruptions took place in Katmai. The wastes in one valley are still desolate enough to provide astronauts with rock samples similar to what might be found on the moon.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Even though Antarctica is snow - covered, it is the world's largest desert. Half the size of the United States, this frozen wasteland surrounding the South Pole receives only six inches of snow yearly, which equals ½-inch of rain. Death Valley, in summer the hottest and driest place in the nation, receives more moisture than that.

Virus Attack Plagues Paul

An attack of virus plagued little Paul McCraw Monday at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh, where he continues to await a kidney transplant that may prolong his life.

Mrs. Erma McCraw of Mulberry St., mother of the 9-year-old, said her son was "pretty uncomfortable" yesterday, but his condition seemed improved last night. The kidney transplant promised the 36-pound youngster on Dec. 24 still has not materialized, she added.

Paul was troubled with frequent coughing and lack of appetite yesterday, but seemed improved last night, Mrs. McCraw said. His trouble was diagnosed as a virus, but not necessarily the flu, she added.

Paul was taken to the Veterans Administration Hospital yesterday for another treatment on an artificial kidney machine. He now is scheduled to receive the treatments each Monday and Thursday.

Paul suffered a severe reaction to the machine's treatment yesterday, but rallied under physicians' care.

Paul's kidneys, attacked by a rare, progressive disease, have all but ceased to function and his life now depends upon the regular treatments with the machine to cleanse his blood, Mrs. McCraw reported.

"I do not think he would be alive now without those treatments," she said.

Funds donated by the public to aid the youngster and his family stand now at $1,922.

Some of the larger donations previously unreported are: A collection in the Mt. Acres Trailer Court by Cheryl Croxall and Sherry Webber, $17.81; Renaissance Club, $3; sixth grade at Chester Intermediate School, $10.30; Wellsville Elks Lodge 1040, $27; employes of the Potters Bank & Trust Co., $25, and a collection made in Chester by Trudy Gorby and Beverly Brown, $21.34.

Robbery

W. 3rd St. in a car believed to be a white Chevrolet convertible—a 1965 to 1967 model.

Mrs. Walton said she did not see a gun at any time. As the two entered the office, the red-haired man asked for the money order, she related. She went to the rear of the office to look for it, then returned to report it was not there.

As she approached the front counter, the dark-haired man told her: "Don't do anything wrong. I want all the money you have."

Mrs. Walton pulled two small drawers from a desk and placed them on top of the counter. The men removed the money. Five or six money order forms also were taken. Then the phone rang and as Mrs. Walton answered it the two fled out the front door. She observed the car moving south on Market and turning west on 3rd St., which would take it to the Freeway.

The robbers escaped pursuit, although police, sheriff's deputies and Ohio Highway Patrol cars set up roadblocks throughout the area within minutes.

Permanent Site Picked For WVU Graduate School

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — A 65-acre complex near the State Capitol has been picked as the permanent site for West Virginia University's Kanawha Valley Graduate School.

The WVU Foundation purchased the property, which will be re-sold to the University's Board of Governors, for $72,000.

Officials said one bloc of land, including the Hillcrest Sanitarium, was sold by the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Kanawha County. The Alexander Corp. sold the remaining 23-acre bloc of property.

University President James G. Harlow said the site will be easily accessible for many students throughout southern and central West Virginia "without forcing them to seek parking spaces in congested places."

The five-building complex is in the Ruffner Heights section of Charleston.

Kennedy

humor." He insisted that, win or lose, the contest would not impair his friendship for Kennedy.

The Louisiana senator said he and Kennedy had differed in the past on matters of importance, but "such differences have left no lasting mark on our friendship or our respect for each other."

Long aides said they believe he has the support of at least 30 of the 57 Democrats.

A White House spokesman said President Johnson, in Texas for the New Year's holiday, would have no comment on Kennedy's bid.

Kennedy, first elected in 1962, pitched his bid on what he said is the obligation of congressional Democrats, with a Republican in the White House, "to present the best possible programs in keeping with our historic role as the party of progress and change in the United States."

He thus laid the grounds for a fight by the Senate's Democratic liberals against their more conservative colleagues for a voice in party councils the Massachusetts senator said must produce the Democratic political leadership in the next four years.

One of Kennedy's claims was that he could help Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana more than Long, since Long must divide his time as chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee.

Of Kennedy's chief sponsors, Humphrey will have no vote in the party caucus and Muskie already had rejected efforts to get him into the race against Long.

Muskie, who made a favorable impression on many Democrats in the presidential campaign, has made it known he wants to be free to "speak out on major issues outside the senate to a national constituency," as one of his aides put it.

While the whip duties might restrict Kennedy on this score, Mansfield has named several assistants to fill in when the whip is busy elsewhere.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY
TV Producer

Network TV producers gave up years ago producing half-hour drama anthologies like the old "GE Theater" and "Four Star Playhouse." It was decided on the network level that such fare lacked enough public acceptance. People didn't want to think that hard, and preferred the same running characters each week, or so the market research showed.

Hal Humphrey

This doesn't bother the Rev. Ellwood Kieser, a big and strapping Catholic priest, who for the past eight years has been executive producer and host of "Insight," a TV series which he dares you to call ecclesiastical.

-:-

THE NEW "Insight" series of 13 dramas is beginning to be aired in more than 200 cities across the country. The films are loaned gratis to stations. Rev. Kieser raises production money from donations and private grants.

Most of the actors, directors, producers and other technicians work for sacle and donate their earnings to Rev. Kieser's Paulist Fathers, a group of Catholic priests dedicated to "the understanding and service of those outside their church."

"Most shows on TV today take you away from reality. They are a kind of mechanical Miltown. We're making drama of involvement to help people realize that anxiety can be redemptive, if a person faces it and deals with it," says Rev. Kieser.

THE FIRST "Insight" dramas made were "message dramas," Rev. Kieser admits, but now the message is there only if you care to dig it out.

"We've gone to abstract theology. For example, our first one is a theological comedy about an exploiter of the ghetto. Finally he despairs and quits his business and takes an overdose of pills, but is confronted by a black man — a Christ figure — who is returning his suit for a refund. It's rather wild and has comedy," reports Rev. Kieser.

Actor Robert Lansing is the teacher in an "Insight" drama dealing with a student who becomes desperate when he finds he's going to flunk out and be drafted into the Army. He resorts to violence against the teacher, but it is motivated violence, not the kind TV's never-never world uses to excite our emotional juices.

"IN THIS new series," Rev. Kieser reports, "we address ourselves to people under 30, because it is during that time of their lives that they decide what their values are. This also is a society of fragmentation. Students used to be content to be just students, and the black man to be where he is, but that is no longer true, and it is up to this series to explore the expanding gaps."

That "Insight" has improved over the years can be seen by the time periods various stations now give it. As Rev. Kieser puts it, "We've broken out of the Sunday morning ghetto on TV." With better time slots, "Insight" has expanded its audience.

Since Rev. Kieser's "Insight" series is not sponsored, he is not hamstrung artistically and can give writers their heads when it comes to subject matter. Writers, directors, actors and producers are happy to do an "Insight" just for the therapy it affords their own souls.

IN THIS current series are such name actors as Robert Lansing, Efrem Zimbalist Jr., Guy Stockwell, Brian Keith, Farley Granger, Beau Bridges and Dwayne Hickman. John Meredyth Lucas and John Furia Jr. are the producers of these 13 dramas. The former has done such commercial series as "Ben Casey," "The Fugitive" and "Star Trek." Furia's credits include "Slattery's People" and "The Singing Nun."

"We've gone into different dramatic forms to tell our stories this time, but 'Insight' deals with subjects that are current and important to our society. We hit and we hit hard," adds Rev. Kieser.

After watching an "Insight" drama, viewers find themselves going through a new experience with TV — thinking.

Leak Is Sealed In Mine Where 78 Were Killed

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A leak has been sealed at the Mountaineer Coal Company No. 9 mine near Mannington where 78 men were killed last month.

David Davis, company president, said the leak was sealed Saturday with "no consequences."

A company spokesman said Monday that a leak was not unusual because high barometric pressure, caused by changes in weather and temperature, cause underground pressure to increase.

The mine was sealed off last month following a series of 16 explosions — and continuing fire — which rocked the underground shafts of the mine for a ten-day period.

Officials said the leak occurred at the main slope entrance near the company store.

$212.4 Million Goes To School Districts

The total represents an increase of $13,775,653 over the corresponding period last year.

Casanova Wins Hearts Of Girl, Postal Clerks

SADDLE BROOK, N.J. (AP) — Casanova won the hearts of Marianne Astegher and those of 100 night clerks at the Hackensack Post Office.

For 13 months in Vietnam, Army Sgt. Gordon Casanova of River Edge wrote a letter each day to Marianne, his fiance, and decorated the envelopes with drawings and romantic messages of "I miss you" and "I love you."

Each night the postal clerks looked forward to Casanova's letters and their decorations and made sure they reached Marianne's home here.

The letters also were marked "DTG" with a number, signifying how many "days to go" Casanova had in Vietnam.

The clerks kept close watch of the countdown and when the letters stopped at "DTG 10," they became worried, thinking perhaps something had happened to the romantic soldier.

But their fears were unfounded. The 21-year-old soldier recently returned from the war unharmed.

Last week the postal clerks sent a letter of their own to Marianne, also 21, asking if everything was all right.

"It seems our nightly chore is over," the clerks wrote, "but it leaves us wondering about the eventual outcome. If there is a wedding how would we get to know, which would give us the feeling of a job well done?"

Casanova and Marianne, who met two years ago shortly before he entered the Army, decided the clerks should know of the outcome.

The couple visited the post office and invited the 100 night clerks to their wedding Jan. 11. The clerks accepted.

"We were really thrilled that people cared and went out of their way to be nice," said Casanova, now an administrative assistant in a chemical company.

Why did he decorate the letters?

"To make Marianne happy," he replied. "How much can you do in Vietnam. I always had a couple of hours free time to do it in."

Does Casanova live up to his name?

"As far as I'm concerned, he does," smiled Marianne, an attractive green-eyed blonde, who is a secretary.

And Monday night the couple picked up their marriage license.

No, I'm not going to decorate that," Casanova said.

Truck Driver Cited Following Collision

A motorist was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance following a two-car collision on the East Liverpool Rd., about a mile west of the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Rd., Monday at 11:15 p.m.

Millions Will Celebrate

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Anyone can celebrate New Year's Eve.

In fact, tonight millions will. And many will go at it so determinedly that Wednesday they will wake up with the feebles and the shakes, their heads aching, their stomachs quaking, their mouths tasting of owl feathers—or worse.

They will be in no condition to enjoy the start of 1969. They will still be quivering casualties of 1968.

No, it isn't difficult to celebrate New Year's Eve. The art lies in celebrating it in such a manner that you and your friends survive it in good shape without undergoing too much pain or peril.

How? Well, one way is to throw a new kind of New Year's Eve party, a safe and sane one that will live long in the memory of your grateful guests.

To begin with you send out invitations to your friends, being sure to include all those who are known topers and injury-prone partygoers:

"We're having a celebration at our house to end all New Year's celebrations. It's bound to be the talk of the town.Come and see. From 9 p.m. until you-say-when."

When the guest arrive you ladle out large offerings of a health-giving fruit punch laced with sarsaparilla. Being in the mood for merriment, many of the guests will get giggly before it dawns upon them that the fruit punch is really nothing but fruit punch.

Then you hand around mimeographed programs for the evening:

"10-10:30 p.m.—The host and hostess will present home movies of their delightful vacation last summer at Swamproot Lake. These will show the laughable antics of the hostess when stung by a bee on a picturesque hike through the woods.

"10:30-11 p.m.—Democrats among the guests will lead a spirited discussion on the lasting achievements of Lyndon B. Johnson's administration.

"11-11:30 p.m.—Republicans among the guests will lead an equally lively discussion on why life will be better with Richard M. Nixon at the helm.

"11:30-midnight—Since many guests by now will be a bit exhausted by the combination of fun and mental stimulation, we think this would be a good time for everyone just to stretch out on the floor and have a refreshing nap. Feel free to take off your shoes. Pillows will be provided for all.

"Midnight until you-say-when—After three lusty hurrahs and a tiger for the New Year, pocket combs and pieces of tissue paper will be passed among the guests and we'll all just sit around and hum "Auld Lang Syne" and other good old tunes. There is plenty to drink—six gallons of sweet cider—and, if pressed, the host and hostess will be glad to unreel some more of their hilarious home movies. The main thing is—let joy be unconfined."

Of course, at the start of your program many guests will think it is only a gag. But by 12:05 a.m. they will be only too aware that it is going according to plan, and quietly tiptoe home while you and your wife are still humming on your pocket combs.

By 12:15 a.m. you and your wife can feed the cat and go to bed, exhilarated by the smug knowledge that you have thrown a New Year's Eve party that will live forever in the memory of those who attended it.

They may not remember it with utter gratitude—but at least they all will have gotten home from it alive.

Judge Tobin Sets Action In 2 Truancy Cases Here

Critical of school administrators for not enforcing state truancy laws, Judge Louis Tobin of Juvenile Court in Lisbon has taken action against a boy and girl in two cases here.

Larry Abbott, 16, son of Everett and Virginia Abbott of 916 Peake St., has been ordered to be in classes next Monday or face the possibility of being sentenced to the Boys Industrial School.

A hearing has been scheduled Jan. 28 for Bonnie Carmen, 15, daughter of Betty Carmen of 223 E. 3rd St.

THE JUDGE acted after a routine check of school records disclosed that neither youngster had been in school since the term opened in September. He also ordered that charges be filed against the parents.

A hearing was held for Abbott Dec. 24, with the judge noting the boy was old enough to have a work certificate, but did not.

The latest action in the cases came Monday during a meeting in the judge's office at Lisbon attended by Carl Pelini, assistant superintendent of schools here; County Prosecutor J. Warren Bettis; Juvenile Officers James Miller and Ed Hedrick, and Ronald Gause, special investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Tobin, upset over the situation, cited sections of the state code which holds parents or guardians responsible for seeing that their children attend school.

In criticizing school authorities for not filing charges against the parents, Tobin said, "This situation cannot be allowed to continue. The parents will be charged and they will be punished. This court will not tolerate the non-enforcement of state law pertaining to school attendance."

HE THEN directed Bettis to file charges for the school board if the city solicitor fails to do so.

East Liverpool Solicitor Michael Kapp emphatically denied ever having refused to file charges for anybody at any time so far as schools are concerned. He said former attendance officer Harold West had never requested such action by his office. It had been intimated that Kapp had refused to file charges when asked by West to do so.

Pelini upheld Kapp in pointing out that school authorities never had experienced any problems with the solicitor's office in obtaining rulings on legislation or obtaining legislation from the solicitor.

the charges read. Each asked a continuance to allow time to obtain counsel, so no pleas were entered. The court set $10,000 appearance bonds for each man.

Cadaret, a short, bald man, appeared in court in an orange sport shirt and dark slacks. Payne, tall and wearing a beard, appeared in a dark sweater and slacks.

Police obtained a search warrant in Municipal Court yesterday to examine Payne's car, which was impounded after the two men were arrested. The .38 pistol allegedly was found under the front seat.

The men are accused of a robbery at 1:20 a. m. Monday in which the $92 was taken from Otto D. Davis of E. 3rd St., a station attendant.

Armed with a description of the auto and the gunman which was broadcast shortly after the robbery, Conkle took the pair into custody on Jefferson St. The arrest was timed at 3:56.

The same station was robbed late the night of Dec. 22 by a gunman who concealed his face with a ski mask.

Action Will Seek New Weir Vote

WEIRTON (AP) — A suit calling for a new election of Weirton city officials is due to be filed in Hancock County Circuit Court.

The suit, contemplated by Samuel J. Iaquinta Sr. of Weirton, will contend the election of Weirton Mayor Frank A. Rybka and the city council was unconstitutional because it violated the 1966 "one man-one vote" ruling by the Supreme Court.

Iaquinta claims the alignment of voting wards in the city is lopsided.

Mayor Rybka said the city council has been in session on "numerous occasions" in an attempt to redistrict the city's voting wards.

Sentence Due For Driver In Hit-Skip Case

Convicted today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of failure to stop after a traffic accident, a local man was told to return to court Jan. 15 for sentencing.

Richard H. Brewer of 1074 Peake St. was found guilty by the judge on a charge filed by Vincent H. Broomhall of Athens, Ohio, following a collision Dec. 24 at W. 8th St. and Dresden Ave. He pleaded not guilty.

At the time of the collision, Broomhall told police his 1968 sedan was struck by another auto which failed to stop. He said he pursued the other auto to the top of the Lisbon St. Hill, where the other driver stopped, but refused to identify himself or wait while Broomhall called the police department.

Meanwhile, James E. Brooks, 24, of 8th Ave., LaCroft, was fined $25 and costs on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way to an oncoming vehicle.

Brooks was cited by Patrolman Karl Samples after a collision Thursday on the River Rd. near Ralstons Crossing. He pleaded "no contest."

Ernest Pugh, 20, of McDonald St. was fined $25 and costs on a charge of operating an auto with a noisy exhaust system. He was cited Monday at 11:29 p. m. on E. 6th St. by Patrolman Charles Coen.

Before pronouncing sentence, the court pointed out that Pugh was cited on a speeding charge on Dec. 18 and also warned about the noisy muffler on his auto. The following day, the judge commented, Pugh was cited on a muffler violation. Pugh told the court he was making arrangements to have the muffler replaced.

cease-fire began. Both helicopters were destroyed, and two Americans were wounded. The losses raised to 970 the announced number of American helicopters shot down in South Vietnam.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said the Viet Cong had shelled several government installations in 10 violations of its self-proclaimed cease-fire which began at 1 a.m. Monday. He said three persons, including one American, were killed, and two Americans and seven South Vietnamese were wounded.

The U.S. Command reported one clash between American and enemy forces about 25 miles north of Saigon in which 13 enemy and one American were killed.

U.S. headquarters said North Vietnamese troops in bunkers in the Southern half of the demilitarized zone fired on a small U.S. observation plane Monday. Marine fighter-bombers attacked the bunkers, destroying six of them and touching off a secondary explosion that indicated hits on ammunition stores, a spokesman said. He said enemy losses were not known, there were no American casualties, and none of the planes was hit.

U.S. Marine patrols also found two enemy bases, just below the DMZ near the Marine outpost called "The Rockpile" and below Da Nang, more than 100 miles to the south. The Marines seized 45 rifles, 490 mortar rounds, more than 2,300 mortar fuses and 4,300 rounds of small arms and machine-gun ammunition.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

TV Producer

Network TV producers gave up years ago producing half-hour drama anthologies like the old "GE Theater" and "Four Star Playhouse." It was decided on the network level that such fare lacked enough public acceptance. People didn't want to think that hard, and preferred the same running characters each week, or so the market research showed.

Hal Humphrey

This doesn't bother the Rev. Ellwood Kieser, a big and strapping Catholic priest, who for the past eight years has been executive producer and host of "Insight," a TV series which he dares you to call ecclesiastical.

-:-

THE NEW "Insight" series of 13 dramas is beginning to be aired in more than 200 cities across the country. The films are loaned gratis to stations. Rev. Kieser raises production money from donations and private grants.

Most of the actors, directors, producers and other technicians work for sacle and donate their earnings to Rev. Kieser's Paulist Fathers, a group of Catholic priests dedicated to "the understanding and service of those outside their church."

"Most shows on TV today take you away from reality. They are a kind of mechanical Miltown. We're making drama of involvement to help people realize that anxiety can be redemptive, if a person faces it and deals with it," says Rev. Kieser.

THE FIRST "Insight" dramas made were "message dramas," Rev. Kieser admits, but now the message is there only if you care to dig it out.

"We've gone to abstract theology. For example, our first one is a theological comedy about an exploiter of the ghetto. Finally he despairs and quits his business and takes an overdose of pills, but is confronted by a black man — a Christ figure — who is returning his suit for a refund. It's rather wild and has comedy," reports Rev. Kieser.

Actor Robert Lansing is the teacher in an "Insight" drama dealing with a student who becomes desperate when he finds he's going to flunk out and be drafted into the Army. He resorts to violence against the teacher, but it is motivated violence, not the kind TV's never-never world uses to excite our emotional juices.

"IN THIS new series," Rev. Kieser reports, "we address ourselves to people under 30, because it is during that time of their lives that they decide what their values are. This also is a society of fragmentation. Students used to be content to be just students, and the black man to be where he is, but that is no longer true, and it is up to this series to explore the expanding gaps."

That "Insight" has improved over the years can be seen by the time periods various stations now give it. As Rev. Kieser puts it, "We've broken out of the Sunday morning ghetto on TV." With better time slots, "Insight" has expanded its audience.

Since Rev. Kieser's "Insight" series is not sponsored, he is not hamstrung artistically and can give writers their heads when it comes to subject matter. Writers, directors, actors and producers are happy to do an "Insight" just for the therapy it affords their own souls.

IN THIS current series are such name actors as Robert Lansing, Efrem Zimbalist Jr., Guy Stockwell, Brian Keith, Farley Granger, Beau Bridges and Dwayne Hickman. John Meredyth Lucas and John Furia Jr. are the producers of these 13 dramas. The former has done such commercial series as "Ben Casey," "The Fugitive" and "Star Trek." Furia's credits include "Slattery's People" and "The Singing Nun."

"We've gone into different dramatic forms to tell our stories this time, but 'Insight' deals with subjects that are current and important to our society. We hit and we hit hard," adds Rev. Kieser.

After watching an "Insight" drama, viewers find themselves going through a new experience with TV — thinking.

Leak Is Sealed In Mine Where 78 Were Killed

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A leak has been sealed at the Mountaineer Coal Company No. 9 mine near Mannington where 78 men were killed last month.

David Davis, company president, said the leak was sealed Saturday with "no consequences."

A company spokesman said Monday that a leak was not unusual because high barometric pressure, caused by changes in weather and temperature, cause underground pressure to increase.

The mine was sealed off last month following a series of 16 explosions — and continuing fire — which rocked the underground shafts of the mine for a ten-day period.

Officials said the leak occurred at the main slope entrance near the company store.

The total represents an increase of $13,775,653 over the corresponding period last year.

Casanova Wins Hearts Of Girl, Postal Clerks

SADDLE BROOK, N.J. (AP) — Casanova won the hearts of Marianne Astegher and those of 100 night clerks at the Hackensack Post Office.

For 13 months in Vietnam, Army Sgt. Gordon Casanova of River Edge wrote a letter each day to Marianne, his fiance, and decorated the envelopes with drawings and romantic messages of "I miss you" and "I love you."

Each night the postal clerks looked forward to Casanova's letters and their decorations and made sure they reached Marianne's home here.

The letters also were marked "DTG" with a number, signifying how many "days to go" Casanova had in Vietnam.

The clerks kept close watch of the countdown and when the letters stopped at "DTG 10," they became worried, thinking perhaps something had happened to the romantic soldier.

But their fears were unfounded. The 21-year-old soldier recently returned from the war unharmed.

Last week the postal clerks sent a letter of their own to Marianne, also 21, asking if everything was all right.

"It seems our nightly chore is over," the clerks wrote, "but it leaves us wondering about the eventual outcome. If there is a wedding how would we get to know, which would give us the feeling of a job well done?"

Casanova and Marianne, who met two years ago shortly before he entered the Army, decided the clerks should know of the outcome.

The couple visited the post office and invited the 100 night clerks to their wedding Jan. 11. The clerks accepted.

"We were really thrilled that people cared and went out of their way to be nice," said Casanova, now an administrative assistant in a chemical company.

Why did he decorate the letters?

"To make Marianne happy," he replied. "How much can you do in Vietnam. I always had a couple of hours free time to do it in."

Does Casanova live up to his name?

"As far as I'm concerned, he does," smiled Marianne, an attractive green-eyed blonde, who is a secretary.

And Monday night the couple picked up their marriage license.

No, I'm not going to decorate that," Casanova said.

Truck Driver Cited Following Collision

A motorist was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance following a two-car collision on the East Liverpool Rd., about a mile west of the Calcutta - Smiths Ferry Rd., Monday at 11:15 p.m.

Millions Will Celebrate

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Anyone can celebrate New Year's Eve. In fact, tonight millions will. And many will go at it so determinedly that Wednesday they will wake up with the feebles and the shakes, their heads aching, their stomachs quaking, their mouths tasting of owl feathers—or worse.

They will be in no condition to enjoy the start of 1969. They will still be quivering casualties of 1968.

No, it isn't difficult to celebrate New Year's Eve. The art lies in celebrating it in such a manner that you and your friends survive it in good shape without undergoing too much pain or peril.

How? Well, one way is to throw a new kind of New Year's Eve party, a safe and sane one that will live long in the memory of your grateful guests.

To begin with you send out invitations to your friends, being sure to include all those who are known topers and injury-prone partygoers:

"We're having a celebration at our house to end all New Year's celebrations. It's bound to be the talk of the town. Come and see. From 9 p.m. until you-say-when."

When the guest arrive you ladle out large offerings of a health-giving fruit punch laced with sarsaparilla. Being in the mood for merriment, many of the guests will get giggly before it dawns upon them that the fruit punch is really nothing but fruit punch.

Then you hand around mimeographed programs for the evening:

"10-10:30 p.m.—The host and hostess will present home movies of their delightful vacation last summer at Swamproot Lake. These will show the laughable antics of the hostess when stung by a bee on a picturesque hike through the woods.

"10:30-11 p.m.—Democrats among the guests will lead a spirited discussion on the lasting achievements of Lyndon B. Johnson's administration.

"11-11:30 p.m.—Republicans among the guests will lead an equally lively discussion on why life will be better with Richard M. Nixon at the helm.

"11:30-midnight—Since many guests by now will be a bit exhausted by the combination of fun and mental stimulation, we think this would be a good time for everyone just to stretch out on the floor and have a refreshing nap. Feel free to take off your shoes. Pillows will be provided for all.

"Midnight until you-say-when—After three lusty hurrahs and a tiger for the New Year, pocket combs and pieces of tissue paper will be passed among the guests and we'll all just sit around and hum "Auld Lang Syne" and other good old tunes. There is plenty to drink—six gallons of sweet cider—and, if pressed, the host and hostess will be glad to unreel some more of their hilarious home movies. The main thing is—let joy be unconfined."

Of course, at the start of your program many guests will think it is only a gag. But by 12:05 a.m. they will be only too aware that it is going according to plan, and quietly tiptoe home while you and your wife are still humming on your pocket combs.

By 12:15 a.m. you and your wife can feed the cat and go to bed, exhilarated by the smug knowledge that you have thrown a New Year's Eve party that will live forever in the memory of those who attended it.

They may not remember it with utter gratitude—but at least they all will have gotten home from it alive.

Sentence Due For Driver In Hit-Skip Case

Convicted today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of failure to stop after a traffic accident, a local man was told to return to court Jan. 15 for sentencing.

Richard H. Brewer of 1074 Peake St. was found guilty by the judge on a charge filed by Vincent H. Broomhall of Athens, Ohio, following a collision Dec. 24 at W. 8th St. and Dresden Ave. He pleaded not guilty.

At the time of the collision, Broomhall told police his 1968 sedan was struck by another auto which failed to stop. He said he pursued the other auto to the top of the Lisbon St. Hill, where the other driver stopped, but refused to identify himself or wait while Broomhall called the police department.

Meanwhile, James E. Brooks, 24, of 8th Ave., LaCroft, was fined $25 and costs on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way to an oncoming vehicle.

Brooks was cited by Patrolman Karl Samples after a collision Thursday on the River Rd. near Ralstons Crossing. He pleaded "no contest."

Ernest Pugh, 20, of McDonald St. was fined $25 and costs on a charge of operating an auto with a noisy exhaust system. He was cited Monday at 11:29 p. m. on E. 6th St. by Patrolman Charles Coen.

Before pronouncing sentence, the court pointed out that Pugh was cited on a speeding charge on Dec. 18 and also warned about the noisy muffler on his auto. The following day, the judge commented, Pugh was cited on a muffler violation. Pugh told the court he was making arrangements to have the muffler replaced.

Driver Forfeits In County Court

A city man charged with driving while intoxicated forfeited a $300 bond in County Judge Barry Dickson's court at East Palestine Monday.

David K. Chaffin, 22, of 1034 Waterloo St. was arrested by the Ohio Highway Patrol on the charge. He also forfeited a $25 bond for public intoxication.

Nelson Legler of 705 E. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, was fined $52 for operating a vehicle 2,100 pounds overweight. Alvin E. Wright of Calcutta was fined $15 and costs for driving an unsafe vehicle.

Fined for speeding were John D. McDade of Negley RD 1, $20 and costs, and Larry B. Zwick of East Palestine RD 1, $10 and costs.

He was appointed Monday night during a special meeting of the water board, Mayor Harold Ash, announced.

Coleman, 49, will receive a salary of $6,500, with an increase upon obtaining state licenses for operation of water and sewage plants, Ash said.

He was a self-employed auto body repairman, with his business located on Pennsylvania Ave., Chester.

Coleman is married and the father of one child.

Recruiter Cites Opportunities In Marine Aviation

Marine aviation provides a varied assortment of activities for airminded young men, Recruiter Sgt. Jacobus points out.

The Marine Corps now offers a guranteed assignment to technical training for those who qualify, he said.

Among the courses are helicopter mechanics, jet engine mechanics, ground control approach and aviation photography.

"You prepare for aviation duty in the Marine Corps by first undergoing boot camp training," Sgt. Jacobus said. "Later, as a Marine aviation duty volunteer you are guaranteed assignment to technical training schools for from 5 to 34 weeks."

Schools are located at Memphis, Tenn.; Cherry Point, N.C.; Pensacola and Jacksonville, Fla.

"After school training, you become a full-fledged member of the Marine aviation team. You may serve with units located throughout the world, or afloat with the U.S. fleet," the recruiter explained.

Those interested in aviation duty with the Marines may contact Sgt. Jacobus at the City Hall here or call 386-4502. Office hours are Monday, Tuesday and Friday from 2 to 4 p.m.

Readings were given by Mrs. Pearl Brown, Russ Brubaker and Mrs. McCain. Lunch was served to 20. Cards and games followed.

Members with birthdays in October, November and December will be honored at the meeting Monday at 1 p. m. in the center. The January refreshment committee includes Mrs. Mildred Haney, Mrs. Carrie Baxter, Mrs. Margaret Butcher and Mrs. Odessa Burns.

THE NOSE KNOWS. Since there is no known chemical method to gauge diesel odor intensity, engineers are endeavoring to eliminate diesel exhaust odor by studying it with the human nose. Here, Dr. Gerald J. Barnes of the General Motors Research Laboratory, demonstrates a new technique which allows natural "sniffing" of different controlled dilutions of air and exhaust gas.

cease-fire began. Both helicopters were destroyed, and two Americans were wounded. The losses raised to 970 the announced number of American helicopters shot down in South Vietnam.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman said the Viet Cong had shelled several government installations in 10 violations of its self-proclaimed cease-fire which began at 1 a.m. Monday. He said three persons, including one American, were killed, and two Americans and seven South Vietnamese were wounded.

The U.S. Command reported one clash between American and enemy forces about 25 miles north of Saigon in which 13 enemy and one American were killed.

U.S. headquarters said North Vietnamese troops in bunkers in the Southern half of the demilitarized zone fired on a small U.S. observation plane Monday. Marine fighter-bombers attacked the bunkers, destroying six of them and touching off a secondary explosion that indicated hits on ammunition stores, a spokesman said. He said enemy losses were not known, there were no American casualties, and none of the planes was hit.

U.S. Marine patrols also found two enemy bases, just below the DMZ near the Marine outpost called "The Rockpile" and below Da Nang, more than 100 miles to the south. The Marines seized 45 rifles, 490 mortar rounds, more than 2,300 mortar fuses and 4,300 rounds of small arms and machine-gun ammunition.

Lisbon Council Purchases New Police Cruiser

LISBON — The purchase of a new 1969 police cruiser was authorized by Council at a meeting Monday night.

Lehman Ford Sales of Lisbon was the sole bidder for the new vehicle — $1,690 plus trade-in of the present 1967 cruiser.

Discussion was held on providing ambulance service for the community. The volunteer fire department earlier discontinued the service and the Lynn Ambulance Service has been serving on a standby basis.

Council agreed to seek proposals from ambulance firms on service and to receive the proposals at a future meeting. The next meeting will be Jan. 13.

Routine year-end busines was completed.

No Change In Policy Seen

Lebanese Feel Neutrality Died In Beirut Flames

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon's emotional politicians and editorial writers say their country's virtual neutrality in the Arab-Israeli conflict perished in the flames at Beirut International Airport last Saturday night.

But Lebanon's shrewd merchants, whose Phoenician forebears were trading with the world before Christ was born, and experienced diplomatic observers expect no change in the Beirut government's policy of lip service to the Arab cause but little else.

Not since 1948, when the state of Israel was established, has Lebanon taken an active part in the Arab confrontation with the Jews next door.

Rarely has there been violence along Lebanon's hilly frontier with Israel, and former Foreign Minister Fouad Boutros recently admitted that security measures had been taken to prevent Palestinian guerrillas using the country as a base for raids into Israel.

Because nearly half of Lebanon's 2.5 million people are Arab Moslems, the government finds it necessary to give vocal support to the other Arab nations. But in the 1956 and 1967 Arab wars with Israel, Lebanon played no part. Last year during the war its troops were withdrawn from the frontier to protect Beirut's Jewish minority. An Israeli warplane crashed in Lebanese territory, and this was hailed as a tremendous triumph. But the Syrians shot the plane down.

Economically, Lebanon benefited from Israel's creation. Before 1948 the Palestinian port of Haifa handled much of the entrepot trade with the Arab world. When Haifa became part of Israel, Beirut took over the business.

With half of its population Christians and many of them pro-Western, the Lebanese government rarely has seen eye to eye with other Arab countries. It refused in 1958 to join either the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria or the equally short-lived federation of Jordan and Iraq. That same year it called in U.S. Marines to put down an insurrection inspired by Egypt.

Lebanon and Syria still haggle bitterly over transit charges.

After 20 years of such an ambiguous policy toward Israel, the destructive Israeli attack came as a stunning shock. It may cause internal problems, spurring the Moslem Lebanese to demand active alignment with the militant Arab governments.

The Lebanese parliament met in secret session Monday night to debate the situation. There have been vociferous demands by legislators for a strengthening of the country's defense.

But perhaps significantly a communique issued by the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine Monday night bore an Amman, Jordan, dateline.

The Front is the Arab guerrilla organization whose attack on an Israeli airliner at Athens last Thursday prompted the Israeli raid on the Beirut airport. Israel claims the Front has its headquarters in Beirut. The Lebanese government has denied this, but previous announcements from the Front were issued here.

Premier Abdullah Yafi told newsmen the Israeli commando raid and Israel's threat of further reprisals would have no effect on Lebanon's policy toward the Arab guerrillas. When government officials were asked to explain what this policy has been, they replied: "That is for you to interpret."

Most Ohio Mental Hospitals Seen Under U.S. Standards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A state official said Monday that most of Ohio's state mental hospitals do not meet minimum federal standards.

Dr. Gordon F. Ogram, assistant commissioner in the department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, told a Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) panel that only one Ohio mental hospital is accredited by the federal government. He agreed with panelist Louis Rolnick who said that lack of accreditation means that 90 per cent of Ohio's mental health institutions are not decent to live in.

The hearing was one of 11 around the country conducted by HEW to evaluate the Medical Assistance Program (Medicaid.)

Dr. Frederick J. Zuber, chief of the division of medical assistance of the Ohio Public Welfare Department, told the panel that the state-federal cost of Medicaid would jump from $70 million to $400 million annually if the needs of Ohio's medically indigent were met.

Zuber said that the federal government will have to pay a higher share. It now pays 52 per cent of Ohio's Medicaid.

"The high costs of the Medical Assistance Program will require a broader base of fiscal responsibility than the states can provide," Zuber stressed.

The Medicaid law passed by Congress in 1965 requires all states to include the medically indigent by Janaury, 1970, or lose Medicaid funds.

Those now eligible for Medicaid in Ohio include all persons who receive all or part of their incomes from federally aided public assistance programs, those in nursing homes and those aged 65 or older in state mental hospitals.

Zuber said that cumbersome administrative procedures have created problems in making prompt Medicaid payments.

He said that meeting federal standards in nursing homes and mental hospitals had increased the costs of Medicaid.

Dr. Francis L. Land, panelist and Commissioner of HEW's Medical Services Administration's Social and Rehabilitation Service, said testimony of Monday's hearing along with 10 other hearings around the country, would be sent to the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential voting by nonwhites increased in the South this November but dropped in the North and West, a Census Bureau survey indicates.

The percentage of Southern nonwhites who said they voted rose to 51.4 per cent this year compared to 44 per cent in the 1964 election, the bureau said Monday. It said the decline in the North and West was from 72 per cent in 1964 to 61.1 per cent this year.

For the United States as a whole, 69.1 per cent of white persons and 56.2 per cent of nonwhites responding to the bureau's survey said they voted, compared to 70.7 and 57.5 respectively in 1964.

The bureau cautioned errors creep into the survey because some people who didn't vote will say they did when asked, and one member of a household will sometimes report incorrectly how many others in the family went to the polls.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense-designate Melvin R. Laird says he expects President Johnson to ask a supplemental appropriation for the Vietnam war, possibly the $3.8 billion Laird previously forecast.

President-elect Nixon's defense secretary said he understands the Vietnam supplemental is to be included in Johnson's defense budget due to go to Congress before he leaves office Jan. 20.

Laird did not say what the supplemental would be but recalled that he predicted a $3.8 billion figure last September.

That would bring this year's Vietnam war spending close to $30 billion. The Vietnam slice of the nearly $72 billion already appropriated for defense this year is estimated at $25.8 billion.

Laird commented at a news conference at which he introduced his choice for deputy defense secretary, industrialist David Packard of Palo Alto, Calif.

A 10-year, $220-million research program on ways to predict earthquakes and reduce their damage has been recommended by the President's Office of Science and Technology. It said construction and other guidelines to reduce potential earthquake losses by 25 per cent could be worked out in 15 to 20 years under the stepped up program—protection it said would take 50 years to achieve under the present research program.

The Labor Department says 4.5 million workers won immediate wage increases averaging 7.5 per cent in major labor contracts negotiated in 1968, compared to an average 5.6 per cent increase in 1967.

Detroit Unit Okays Model Cities Setup

DETROIT (AP) — To meet today's federal deadline, the Detroit Common Council approved a $20.5-million Model Cities application Monday, containing a recommendation from a 102-member citizens' committee that prostitution be legalized.

However, city officials said the proposal to establish legitimate red light districts was not part of the recommendations to be implemented in the next five years, if ever.

Sources from the citizens' committee, composed of persons elected in the inner city neighborhoods, said the purpose was to rid the area of organized crime control of prostitution and to halt the spread of veneral disease.

Only newly elected Councilman Robert Tindal, who has been executive secretary of the Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, spoke out for the resolution at Monday's meeting.

Saying he was not sure whether legalizing prostitution was the answer, he added, "These people are grabbing for straws to end the problem. Prostitution does exist and there is a real problem.

"Children in the neighborhood see it everyday, but if you don't live there, you don't know it exists," he added.

The application was approved by a 6-2 vote after councilmen were assured it would not be interpreted as agreeing to legalizing prostitution.

Many councilmen said the prostitution proposal could be withdrawn later.

The two dissenters, however, said they doubted that the recommendations could be changed.

Legalized prostitution was among several hundred recommendations drafted by the citizens' committee, which represents 125,000 residents in a nine-square mile area.

Members of Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's staff said that if changes were made in the citizens' recommendations, the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development might reject the request. It calls for a $20.5-million grant the first year and $100 million over five years for programs to rebuild the inner city.

ANN LANDERS

'Girls' Will Be Girls!

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: As a woman who is married to a transvestite, I want to thank you for pointing out that men who enjoy dressing up in women's clothes are not necessarily homosexuals. Bob and I were both pleased to see this in your column. There is so much ignorance on the subject and very few people are willing to discuss it openly.

We were quite unhappy, however, with your statement that transvestitism is a deviation, or, to use your phrase — "normal, it isn't." Just because something is different, Ann, doesn't mean it isn't normal.

My Bob is all man. He is 6 feet 2, weighs 190 pounds and there's not an ounce of fat on him. He works with a construction gang and enjoys manual labor. No one knows about our secret game but us.

Once or twice a week, after the children are asleep, Bob puts on his wig and high heels, pastes on his false eyelashes, slips into a nylon dressing gown and scents himself generously with cologne. We have a ball! I call him Bobette and he's my best girl friend.

This part of our life has added zest to our marriage. We both look forward to these wonderful evenings. It's exciting and we aren't hurting anybody.

I wish you'd be more broad-minded and not give your readers the impression this is wrong. — BOBETTE'S WIFE.

Dear Wife: I didn't say it was wrong. I said it wasn't normal. If you and your husband want to be girl friends, it's all right with me, Lady.

Naughty Aunt

Dear Ann: Two months ago my 73-year-old aunt had a fire in her apartment. We felt sorry for her and invited her to stay with us until she could find another place.

Aunt Nettie is a well-to-do widow. She's not trying to save money. In fact, she pays us $125 a month for room and board. (We can use the income).

My husband told me last night that he would pay Aunt Nettie $125 a month if she'd leave. The woman has no taste and no judgment. When the phone rings she runs to answer it because she likes to talk — and she'll talk to anybody, whether she knows them or not.

Yesterday Aunt Nettie told the minister I was in the bathroom and to please call back. This evening she said to heaven knows who, "Vera and Tom are having an argument. Please call later." (I still don't know who it was.)

My mother says we should be charitable and overlook her faults. My husband is boiling. What do you say, Ann? — GRRRR-RR.

Dear Grrrr-rr: Your marriage is worth more than $125 a month, isn't it? Well, get going and find Aunt Nettie another place to live at once. She's a disruptive influence in your home and you know it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

$430 Million Set For Road Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Highway Director P. E. Masheter said Monday that Ohio will have $430 million in highway construction work under contract in 1969.

Masheter reported that the state had contracted $436 million of highway work for 1968.

The director said 1968 construction in Ohio was troubled by federal fund cuts, a federal freeze on spending and delays of several months in northeastern Ohio because of stiffer employment practices instituted by the U.S. Department of Labor and the Department of Transportation.

Masheter forecast the completion next, year of I-90 in Lorain County and of four of the five remaining sections of I-71 in Hamilton County and the beginning of four interstate projects in Mahoning County.

He said that Ohio has opened 76 per cent or 1,151 miles of its allocated 1,530 miles of interstate highways.

UCLA Smothers St. John's To Win Title

The Review Sports

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1968 EAST LIVERPOOL REVIEW PAGE 18

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

A look back on 1968 shows it to be a pretty good year in sports in the East Liverpool area.

The Potter basketball team tied its best regular season record ever, 17-1, was ranked eighth in the state and won the section title before bowing to Martins Ferry in district play.

Beaver Local posted its best cage record ever, 16-2, and won the Buckeye Border Conference title. East Palestine took the Tri-County League crown.

Duquesne went to the NIT, as did West Virginia, but Ohio State was the real cinderella team, getting all the way to the NCAA semi-finals before being derailed by UCLA. The Buckeyes bounced back to whip Houston for third place.

EAST LIVERPOOL rolled up fine records in baseball, track and golf. Jim Taucher of East Palestine led the Bulldogs to the county track title by breaking the county pole-vault record. Beaver Local had a fine baseball record, but rain prevented a clearcut conclusion to the Buckeye Border race. Wellsville took the conference track title, while Stanton won the Indian League. Western Beaver won its section in golf.

In football, the Potters had an 8-2 mark. East Palestine went 8-1-1 and shared the Tri-County title. Southern Local, led by the fabulous Rich Rose, posted its best record ever on the gridiron. Randy Muntean of Lisbon attracted state-wide attention with his field goal kicking by beating Beaver Local 3-0 one week and beating Leetonia with three fielders the next week. Midland won the MAC Class B title.

Ohio State and Ohio U. posted unbeaten regular season grid records and got bowl invitations. Back to basketball, Duquesne is unbeaten so far in the 1968-1969 season and looking for national ranking. Southern Local snapped a 26-game losing streak in basketball.

For Cleveland fans, the Indians did surprisingly well, finishing in the first division. The Browns did even better, after a poor start, winning the Century Division and upsetting Dallas for the Eastern title before bowing to Baltimore for the championship.

FOR PITTSBURGH fans, it was a sad story. The only winning team, the ABA Champion Pipers, moved out of town. The Penguins, a new franchise in the National Hockey League, finished out of the playoffs. The Pirates finished a disappointing sixth and the Steelers, as usual, finished last. Pitt suffered through its third straight 1-9 year in football, and both the Panthers and Steelers fired their coaches. Pitt also got a new basketball coach, Buzz Ridl of Westminster. The Penguins are off to another bad start in their second year of play.

Probably the biggest success in East Liverpool was enjoyed in amateur baseball. Paul Gill's American Legion team won the county and OVAC titles, but was eliminated in the state playoffs. Don Smith guided the local Colt League team to divisional and regional titles and all the way to a fourth-place finish in the Colt World Series in Riverside, California.

And finally, 1968 was a good year for "old men" in sport. Julius Boros, 48, had his best year ever on the pro golf circuit. Gordie Howe, 40, scored his 700th NHL goal. George Blanda, 41, helped the Oakland Raiders with his place-kicking and filled in when starting quarterback Daryle Lamonica was hurt. And Hoyt Wilhelm, 45, recorded a 1.72 ERA in 72 games for the Chicago White Sox and was traded twice after the season.

Pistol Pete Scores 51 To Upend Dukes

By DICK COUCH

Lew Alcindor and the awesome UCLA Bruins made a shambles of their Holiday Festival title game against St. John's, N.Y., while North Carolina's Charlie Scott and Kansas' Jo Jo Whites, two of America's Olympic basketball standouts, also sparkled in tournament play.

But Detroit supersoph Spencer Haywood, brightest of the U.S. cage stars at the Mexico City Olympic Games, was eclipsed by the Minnesota Gophers ... and a guy named Mikan.

Alcindor, UCLA's amazing, 7-foot-1½ All American, led the unbeaten, top-ranked Bruins past St. John's 74-56 with a 30-point, 22-rebound performance for the ECAC Holiday Festival championship at New York Monday night.

Scott teamed with 6-foot-9 Rusty Clark to pace fourth-ranked North Carolina in a 103-76 conquest of Princeton for third place in the Madison Square Garden classic and White, whose college eligibility runs out next month, helped fifth-ranked Kansas trim Oklahoma State 56-45 in the title game of the Big Eight Conference tournament at Kansas City.

At Minneapolis, Larry Mikan, the son of former All American George Mikan, a Hall of Famer and the commissioner of the American Basketball Association, led the unranked Gophers to an 85-80 victory over previously unbeaten, seventh-ranked Detroit ... despite a 34-point spree by the 6-foot-8 Haywood.

Mikan put in 29 points and grabbed 16 rebounds as Minnesota ended the Titans' winning string at 10 games.

Sixth-ranked Santa Clara came on strong in the second half to whip Columbia 64-58 and win the fifth annual Rainbow Classic at Honolulu, Hawaii. It was the 10th straight victory for the unbeaten Broncos, who were paced by Dennis Awtrey's 27 points.

Ninth-ranked Villanova, beaten by North Carolina in the first round of the Holiday Festival, took fifth place with a 70-65 victory over Holy Cross.

But six of the other nationally ranked teams in action, including No. 17 St. John's, were upended.

South Carolina knocked off 11th ranked LaSalle 62-59 in the final of the Quaker City Classic at Philadelphia and No. 15 Duquesne bowed to Louisiana State 94-91 in the title game of the All College Tournament at Oklahoma City after the host team downed No. 20 St. Bonaventure 81-71 for third place.

Washington topped No. 13 Ohio State 64-59 at Columbus and Butler ambushed No. 18 New Mexico 81-80 in overtime at Indianapolis.

Of the eight clubs in the second ten who played, only 14th ranked Louisville, which rolled past North Texas State 86-73 at home for its eighth victory without a loss, and 16th ranked Notre Dame, which smashed American University 92-67 at Baltimore, emerged unscathed.

Alcindor, playing in his native New York for the last time as a collegian, dominated the Festival final with his scoring, rebounding and shot blocking as UCLA zipped to its 24th straight victory and 71st in 72 games. The Bruins' Kenny Heitz limited St. John's ace John Warren to six points before a Madison Square Garden throng of 19,500.

Scott popped in 22 points ... two less than Clark ... as the Tar Heels semifinal upset victims of St. John's, captured consolation honors by racing past Princeton for their eighth victory in nine starts.

Dave Robisch, a 6-foot-0 sophomore, scored 22 points—10 of them in succession at the start of the second half—and floor general White added 16 in Kansas' Big Eight triumph over the Cowboys. The Jayhawks, 11-1, have won the tournament nine times.

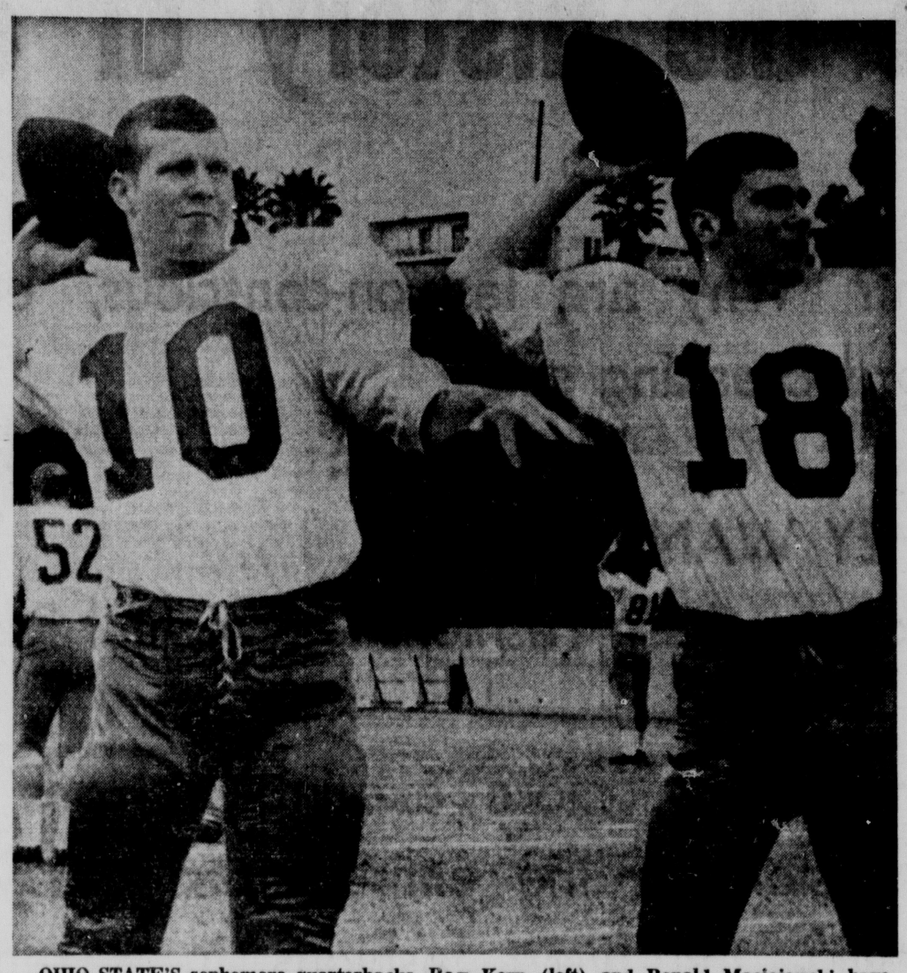
Howard Porter, Villanova's touted, 6-foot-8 soph, erupted for 31 points—20 in the second half—as the Wildcats, 7-1, slipped past Holly Cross.

John Roche triggered South Carolina to its Quaker City triumph with 24 points as a team from outside Philadelphia took the title for only the second year in the tourney's eight-year history.

Pistol Pete Maravich, LSU's torrid-shooting All American, equaled the All College single game scoring mark with a 53-point binge that toppled the previously unbeaten Iron Dukes. Texas A&M's Benny Lenox set the mark in 1963. Rich Travis' 33 points led Oklahoma City past the Bonnies.

Washington scrambled past the Buckeyes behind a hot ... 60 per cent ... first half from the field and the over-all shooting of forward George Irvine, who finished with 23 points. Butler wiped out a seven-point deficit in regulation play and shaded New Mexico behind Steve Norris' 19 points.

Butch Beard fired in 18 of his 25 points in the first half and Louisville went on a 13-0 tear in the second half to bounce North Texas. Norte Dame, 7-2, overwhelmed American U., with soph Austin Carr putting in 21 points to lead the assault.



OHIO STATE'S sophomore quarterbacks, Rex Kern (left) and Ronald Maciejowski have led the Buckeyes through an undefeated season. Kern, who has missed several games because of injuries is expected to start New Year's Day against the Trojans in the Rose Bowl game. (UPI Telephoto)

Takes No. 2 Spot Behind UCLA

Davidson New Challenger

By The Associated Press

The powerful UCLA Bruins, winners of the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York, return home to Los Angeles this week with their unbeaten slate intact and with a new challenger for their No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press' college basketball poll.

The latest No. 2 team is Davidson, also undefeated, and a replacement for North Carolina, which tumbled to fourth place after being upset by St. John's of New York in the Madison Squaren Garden tournament's semifinal round.

UCLA, which downed the Redmen 74-56 in the ECAC final Monday night, collected all 40 votes for first place in the latest balloting by sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday. The Bruins had defeated Providence and Princeton to reach the final round.

Davidson advanced one notch after downing Maryland and Texas last week while Kentucky, a 110-90 winner over Notre Dame, also climbed one position to third.

UCLA's next game is at home against Tulane Saturday night.

Davidson next takes on Michigan Tuesday and then St. John's of New York Saturday. Kentucky plays Wisconsin Tuesday and Mississippi Saturday and North Carolina's next start is against Duke Saturday.

The most rapid advances in the poll's Top Ten were made by Kansas, Santa Clara, Detroit and Illinois. Kansas, in fifth place and Santa Clara, sixth, each soared three places while Detroit and Illinois both moved up four places to seventh and eighth, respectively.

Villanova, beaten by North Carolina in the Holiday Festival's opening round, slipped from fifth to ninth and Cincinnati, winner over North Texas in its only game last week, remained in 10th spot.

Duquesne, No. 15, St. John's, No. 17 and Northwestern, No. 19, are the new teams in the Second Ten. Dropping out of the rankings were Purdue, Wyoming and Tennessee. The Boilermakers lost to Columbia, Wyoming to Louisiana State and the Volunteers were not scheduled last week.

Bluebonnet Bowl Tonight Launches New Year's Schedule

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Houston, coming back down to earth after the sensational show by the three Apollo 8 astronauts, gets a crance to blast off again tonight when it hosts the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl between Southern Methodist and Oklahoma.

That will be the appetizer setting the stage for the big New Year's Day menu of Bowl games—the Rose at Pasadena matching Southern California and Ohio State; the Cotton at Dallas with Tennessee facing Texas; the Sugar at New Orleans with Georgia against Arkansas; and the Orange at Miami with Penn State against Kansas.

Two more games are scheduled for Saturday with North and South squads clashing in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu, Hawaii and in the American Bowl at Tampa, Fla.

The week's post-season action got started Monday night in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta where Louisiana State rallied behind Mike Hillman's quarterbacking to beat Florida State 31-27.

Hillman drove the Tigers downfield in the final minutes, completing two key passes and taking off on a 14-yard run to set up Maruice LeBlanc's three-yard plunge for the game-winning touchdown.

An overflow crowd of 60,000 is expected in the Astrodome tonight for the Astro-Bluebonnet which has succumbed to Mother Nature and moved indoors following nine weather-troubled years in Rice Stadium.

Oklahoma and SMU both logged 7-3 records during the regular season and feature explosive offenses.

"Both teams ought to ring the scoring bell a few times," said Chuck Fairbanks, Oklahoma's coach. The Sooners won five straight games after a so-so start and Hayden Fry, SMU's coach, insists that Fairbanks' club has developed into possibly the best team in the nation.

"Oklahoma became a great team because of its balance on offense and defense," said Fry. "Ohio State is not as good on defense."

USC and explosive O.J. Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner, will find out just how good Ohio State's defense is in the Rose Bowl Wednesday. O. J. will have running competition from the Buckeyes' Jim Otis, a tough fullback, and rollout quarterback Rex Kern.

In the Orange Bowl, third-ranked Penn State would figure to be a major problem but the Nittany Lions will have to go some to give Kansas any more headaches than the Jayhawks encountered in their own conference—the tough Big Eight.

Three Big Eight teams—Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma—all won bowl bids and Missouri whacked Alabama in the Gator showdown 35-10 last Saturday.

"Through better recruiting and better coaching, the Big Eight has been brought into balance," said Charlie McCullers, Kansas' offensive coach. "The rivalries are tough and cold-blooded now from top to bottom."

Kansas survived the tough Conference with a 9-1 record to set the stage for the meeting with unbeaten Penn State, 10-0.

Tennessee may have some surprises in store for Texas in the Cotton Bowl. "New wrinkles," was what Doug Dickey, coach of the Volunteers, called them.

"We won't have anything drastic for Texas, but we'll try to have something different," said Dickey. "I'd be surprised if there was a whole lot of offense. I doubt the game will be completely wide open." said Darrell Royal, coach of fifth-ranked Texas He said his club would "stay with the basics."

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles was struggling with how to deal with Georgia's tough defense in the Sugar Bowl. The Bulldogs had the best defensive statistics in the country this season.

"I thought when I left Georgia Tech, I wouldn't have to worry about playing Georgia again," said Broyles, who was a top quarterback and later an assistant coach at Tech.

Georgia's defense will have plenty to do against Broyles' club. "Arkansas has a tremendous offense," said Georgia Coach Vince Dooley, "certainly the best we've seen."

Happy New Year from M&A Dodge
We hope 1969 is a good year for you. As good as 1968 has been for us. And we thank you for that. We sold a lot of Dodges this past year. We figure it was a combination of having a great car and offering the best service. And we're going to continue with both in '69. It's part of our philosophy—a little integrity goes a long way.

W. Beaver Claims 3rd Straight In Overtime

Western Beaver, after suffering four setbacks, rolled to its third straight victory, a 63-62 overtime victory at the expense of Shadyside Academy of Pittsburgh Monday night on the Western Beaver floor.

A foul shot by Ron Misorski with less than a minute to play in the overtime period proved to be the margin of victory after Chuck Kelker and Chuck Barrickman had scored baskets in the overtime session.

Shadyside tied the score at 58-58 at the end of regulation time on a foul shot by Barry Orlove.

The contest was nip and tuck throughout with Shadyside outscoring Western Beaver 17-10 in the fourth quarter to tie the game.

Barry Dawson was the big gun for Western with 19 points but was joined in the double figure column by John Petchel and Barrickman with 13 each while Kelker added 12. Orlove topped Shadyside with 17 points.

Western shot 49 per cent from the field and Shadyside 37.

Western Beaver's reserve squad won a 55-48 double overtime victory in the preliminary contest.

No Change In Policy Seen

Lebanese Feel Neutrality Died In Beirut Flames

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon's emotional politicians and editorial writers say their country's virtual neutrality in the Arab-Israeli conflict perished in the flames at Beirut International Airport last Saturday night.

But Lebanon's shrewd merchants, whose Phoenician forebears were trading with the world before Christ was born, and experienced diplomatic observers expect no change in the Beirut government's policy of lip service to the Arab cause but little else.

Not since 1948, when the state of Israel was established, has Lebanon taken an active part in the Arab confrontation with the Jews next door.

Rarely has there been violence along Lebanon's hilly frontier with Israel, and former Foreign Minister Fouad Boutros recently admitted that security measures had been taken to prevent Palestinian guerrillas using the country as a base for raids into Israel.

Because nearly half of Lebanon's 2.5 million people are Arab Moslems, the government finds it necessary to give vocal support to the other Arab nations. But in the 1956 and 1967 Arab wars with Israel, Lebanon played no part. Last year during the war its troops were withdrawn from the frontier to protect Beirut's Jewish minority. An Israeli warplane crashed in Lebanese territory, and this was hailed as a tremendous triumph. But the Syrians shot the plane down.

Economically, Lebanon benefited from Israel's creation. Before 1948 the Palestinian port of Haifa handled much of the entrepot trade with the Arab world. When Haifa became part of Israel, Beirut took over the business.

With half of its population Christians and many of them pro-Western, the Lebanese government rarely has seen eye to eye with other Arab countries. It refused in 1958 to join either the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria or the equally short-lived federation of Jordan and Iraq. That same year it called in U.S. Marines to put down an insurrection inspired by Egypt.

Lebanon and Syria still haggle bitterly over transit charges.

After 20 years of such an ambiguous policy toward Israel, the destructive Israeli attack came as a stunning shock. It may cause internal problems, spurring the Moslem Lebanese to demand active alignment with the militant Arab governments.

The Lebanese parliament met in secret session Monday night to debate the situation. There have been vociferous demands by legislators for a strengthening of the country's defense.

But perhaps significantly a communique issued by the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine Monday night bore an Amman, Jordan, dateline.

The Front is the Arab guerrilla organization whose attack on an Israeli airliner at Athens last Thursday prompted the Israeli raid on the Beirut airport. Israel claims the Front has its headquarters in Beirut. The Lebanese government has denied this, but previous announcements from the Front were issued here.

Premier Abdullah Yafi told newsmen the Israeli commando raid and Israel's threat of further reprisals would have no effect on Lebanon's policy toward the Arab guerrillas. When government officials were asked to explain what this policy has been, they replied: "That is for you to interpret."

Detroit Unit Okays Model Cities Setup

DETROIT (AP) — To meet today's federal deadline, the Detroit Common Council approved a $20.5-million Model Cities application Monday, containing a recommendation from a 102-member citizens' committee that prostitution be legalized.

However, city officials said the proposal to establish legitimate red light districts was not part of the recommendations to be implemented in the next five years, if ever.

Sources from the citizens' committee, composed of persons elected in the inner city neighborhoods, said the purpose was to rid the area of organized crime control of prostitution and to halt the spread of veneral disease.

Only newly elected Councilman Robert Tindal, who has been executive secretary of the Detroit branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, spoke out for the resolution at Monday's meeting.

Saying he was not sure whether legalizing prostitution was the answer, he added, "These people are grabbing for straws to end the problem. Prostitution does exist and there is a real problem.

"Children in the neighborhood see it everyday, but if you don't live there, you don't know it exists," he added.

The application was approved by a 6-2 vote after councilmen were assured it would not be interpreted as agreeing to legalizing prostitution.

Many councilmen said the prostitution proposal could be withdrawn later.

The two dissenters, however, said they doubted that the recommendations could be changed.

Legalized prostitution was among several hundred recommendations drafted by the citizens' committee, which represents 125,000 residents in a nine-square mile area.

Members of Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's staff said that if changes were made in the citizens' recommendations, the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development might reject the request. It calls for a $20.5-million grant the first year and $100 million over five years for programs to rebuild the inner city.

JIM MELLINGER, left, a life Scout, and Mark Allen Casto, an Eagle Scout, exchange congratulations after receiving God and Country awards. They are members of Troop 12 sponsored by the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

Barbershoppers Make Plans For Installation Rites

Plans for the installing banquet were outlined when the East Liverpool SPEBSQSA chapter met Monday night at the Emmanuel United Presbyterian Church.

Lou Benedict, president of the Johnny Appleseed District, will install the officers Jan. 11 at Deramo's Restaurant in Midland. The dinner will be served at 6:30.

Ike Shumaker, president, introduced a guest, Ross Schmidt.

The chapter accepted an engagement to sing Jan. 29 for the Wellsville Chamber of Commerce.

Glenn Woods directed the 20 present in a singing session.

Coffee was served by Glen Hart.

The chapter will meet again Monday.

ANN LANDERS

'Girls' Will Be Girls!

Dear Ann Landers: As a woman who is married to a transvestite, I want to thank you for pointing out that men who enjoy dressing up in women's clothes are not necessarily homosexuals. Bob and I were both pleased to see this in your column. There is so much ignorance on the subject and very few people are willing to discuss it openly.

We were quite unhappy, however, with your statement that transvestitism is a deviation, or, to use your phrase — "normal, it isn't." Just because something is different, Ann, doesn't mean it isn't normal.

My Bob is all man. He is 6 feet 2, weighs 190 pounds and there's not an ounce of fat on him. He works with a construction gang and enjoys manual labor. No one knows about our secret game but us.

Once or twice a week, after the children are asleep, Bob puts on his wig and high heels, pastes on his false eyelashes, slips into a nylon dressing gown and scents himself generously with cologne. We have a ball! I call him Bobette and he's my best girl friend.

This part of our life has added zest to our marriage. We both look forward to these wonderful evenings. It's exciting and we aren't hurting anybody.

I wish you'd be more broad-minded and not give your readers the impression this is wrong. — BOBETTE'S WIFE.

Dear Wife: I didn't say it was wrong. I said it wasn't normal. If you and your husband want to be girl friends, it's all right with me, Lady.

By Ann Landers

Naughty Aunt

Dear Ann: Two months ago my 73-year-old aunt had a fire in her apartment. We felt sorry for her and invited her to stay with us until she could find another place.

Aunt Nettie is a well-to-do widow. She's not trying to save money. In fact, she pays us $125 a month for room and board. (We can use the income).

My husband told me last night that he would pay Aunt Nettie $125 a month if she'd leave. The woman has no taste and no judgment. When the phone rings she runs to answer it because she likes to talk — and she'll talk to anybody, whether she knows them or not.

Yesterday Aunt Nettie told the minister I was in the bathroom and to please call back. This evening she said to heaven knows who, "Vera and Tom are having an argument. Please call later." (I still don't know who it was.)

My mother says we should be charitable and overlook her faults. My husband is boiling. What do you say, Ann? — GRRRR-RR.

Dear Grrrr-rr: Your marriage is worth more than $125 a month, isn't it? Well, get going and find Aunt Nettie another place to live at once. She's a disruptive influence in your home and you know it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

$430 Million Set For Road Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Highway Director P. E. Masheter said Monday that Ohio will have $430 million in highway construction work under contract in 1969.

Masheter reported that the state had contracted $436 million of highway work for 1968.

The director said 1968 construction in Ohio was troubled by federal fund cuts, a federal freeze on spending and delays of several months in northeastern Ohio because of stiffer employment practices instituted by the U.S. Department of Labor and the Department of Transportation.

Masheter forecast the completion next, year of I-90 in Lorain County and of four of the five remaining sections of I-71 in Hamilton County and the beginning of four interstate projects in Mahoning County.

He said that Ohio has opened 76 per cent or 1,151 miles of its allocated 1,530 miles of interstate highways.

Most Ohio Mental Hospitals Seen Under U.S. Standards

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A state official said Monday that most of Ohio's state mental hospitals do not meet minimum federal standards.

Dr. Gordon F. Ogram, assistant commissioner in the department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, told a Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) panel that only one Ohio mental hospital is accredited by the federal government. He agreed with panelist Louis Rolnick who said that lack of accreditation means that 90 per cent of Ohio's mental health institutions are not decent to live in.

The hearing was one of 11 around the country conducted by HEW to evaluate the Medical Assistance Program (Medicaid.)

Dr. Frederick J. Zuber, chief of the division of medical assistance of the Ohio Public Welfare Department, told the panel that the state-federal cost of Medicaid would jump from $70 million to $400 million annually if the needs of Ohio's medically indigent were met.

Zuber said that the federal government will have to pay a higher share. It now pays 52 per cent of Ohio's Medicaid.

"The high costs of the Medical Assistance Program will require a broader base of fiscal responsibility than the states can provide," Zuber stressed.

The Medicaid law passed by Congress in 1965 requires all states to include the medically indigent by Janaury, 1970, or lose Medicaid funds.

Those now eligible for Medicaid in Ohio include all persons who receive all or part of their incomes from federally aided public assistance programs, those in nursing homes and those aged 65 or older in state mental hospitals.

Zuber said that cumbersome administrative procedures have created problems in making prompt Medicaid payments.

He said that meeting federal standards in nursing homes and mental hospitals had increased the costs of Medicaid.

Dr. Francis L. Land, panelist and Commissioner of HEW's Medical Services Administration's Social and Rehabilitation Service, said testimony of Monday's hearing along with 10 other hearings around the country, would be sent to the House Ways and Means Committee and the Senate Finance Committee.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential voting by nonwhites increased in the South this November but dropped in the North and West, a Census Bureau survey indicates.

The percentage of Southern nonwhites who said they voted rose to 51.4 per cent this year compared to 44 per cent in the 1964 election, the bureau said Monday. It said the decline in the North and West was from 72 per cent in 1964 to 61.1 per cent this year.

For the United States as a whole, 69.1 per cent of white persons and 56.2 per cent of nonwhites responding to the bureau's survey said they voted, compared to 70.7 and 57.5 respectively in 1964.

The bureau cautioned errors creep into the survey because some people who didn't vote will say they did when asked, and one member of a household will sometimes report incorrectly how many others in the family went to the polls.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense-designate Melvin R. Laird says he expects President Johnson to ask a supplemental appropriation for the Vietnam war, possibly the $3.8 billion Laird previously forecast.

President-elect Nixon's defense secretary said he understands the Vietnam supplemental is to be included in Johnson's defense budget due to go to Congress before he leaves office Jan. 20.

Laird did not say what the supplemental would be but recalled that he predicted a $3.8 billion figure last September.

That would bring this year's Vietnam war spending close to $30 billion. The Vietnam slice of the nearly $72 billion already appropriated for defense this year is estimated at $25.8 billion.

Laird commented at a news conference at which he introduced his choice for deputy defense secretary, industrialist David Packard of Palo Alto, Calif.

Capital Footnotes

A 10-year, $220-million research program on ways to predict earthquakes and reduce their damage has been recommended by the President's Office of Science and Technology. It said construction and other guidelines to reduce potential earthquake losses by 25 per cent could be worked out in 15 to 20 years under the stepped up program—protection it said would take 50 years to achieve under the present research program.

The Labor Department says 4.5 million workers won immediate wage increases averaging 7.5 per cent in major labor contracts negotiated in 1968, compared to an average 5.6 per cent increase in 1967.

Capital Quote

"Well, I'm sure the last thing Mr. Nixon wants on the day of his inauguration is another Chicago."—Rennie Davis, National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam coordinator, saying he expects more cooperation from officials on plans for non-violent "counter-Inaugural" protests in Washington than the group got when planning protests during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Saxbe Will Resign, Brown To Take Oath

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William B Saxbe will resign from his post Thursday and former Ohio Supreme Court Justice Paul W. Brown will be sworn in as the new attorney general on Saturday. Saxbe left Monday night for Washington, where he will replace Frank Lausche as one of Ohio's U.S. Senators.

Saxbe spent much of Monday saying goodbye to his staff and friends. He said he did not think that Lausche would resign to give Saxbe a slight edge on seniority at the Senate.

Brown was appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes to fill Saxbe's unexpired term. He had served on the high court since 1964.

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

A look back on 1968 shows it to be a pretty good year in sports in the East Liverpool area.

The Potter basketball team tied its best regular season record ever, 17-1, was ranked eighth in the state and won the section title before bowing to Martins Ferry in district play.

Beaver Local posted its best cage record ever, 16-2, and won the Buckeye Border Conference title. East Palestine took the Tri-County League crown.

Duquesne went to the NIT, as did West Virginia, but Ohio State was the real cinderella team, getting all the way to the NCAA semi-finals before being derailed by UCLA. The Buckeyes bounced back to whip Houston for third place.

EAST LIVERPOOL rolled up fine records in baseball, track and golf. Jim Taucher of East Palestine led the Bulldogs to the county track title by breaking the county pole-vault record. Beaver Local had a fine baseball record, but rain prevented a clearcut conclusion to the Buckeye Border race. Wellsville took the conference track title, while Stanton won the Indian League. Western Beaver won its section in golf.

In football, the Potters had an 8-2 mark. East Palestine went 8-1-1 and shared the Tri-County title. Southern Local, led by the fabulous Rich Rose, posted its best record ever on the gridiron. Randy Muntean of Lisbon attracted state-wide attention with his field goal kicking by beating Beaver Local 3-0 one week and beating Leetonia with three fielders the next week. Midland won the MAC Class B title.

Ohio State and Ohio U. posted unbeaten regular season grid records and got bowl invitations. Back to basketball, Duquesne is unbeaten so far in the 1968-1969 season and looking for national ranking. Southern Local snapped a 26-game losing streak in basketball.

For Cleveland fans, the Indians did surprisingly well, finishing in the first division. The Browns did even better, after a poor start, winning the Century Division and upsetting Dallas for the Eastern title before bowing to Baltimore for the championship.

FOR PITTSBURGH fans, it was a sad story. The only winning team, the ABA Champion Pipers, moved out of town. The Penguins, a new franchise in the National Hockey League, finished out of the playoffs. The Pirates finished a disappointing sixth and the Steelers, as usual, finished last. Pitt suffered through its third straight 1-9 year in football, and both the Panthers and Steelers fired their coaches. Pitt also got a new basketball coach, Buzz Ridl of Westminster. The Penguins are off to another bad start in their second year of play.

Probably the biggest success in East Liverpool was enjoyed in amateur baseball. Paul Gill's American Legion team won the county and OVAC titles, but was eliminated in the state playoffs. Don Smith guided the local Colt League team to divisional and regional titles and all the way to a fourth-place finish in the Colt World Series in Riverside, California.

And finally, 1968 was a good year for "old men" in sport. Julius Boros, 48, had his best year ever on the pro golf circuit. Gordie Howe, 40, scored his 700th NHL goal. George Blanda, 41, helped the Oakland Raiders with his place-kicking and filled in when starting quarterback Daryle Lamonica was hurt. And Hoyt Wilhelm, 45, recorded a 1.72 ERA in 72 games for the Chicago White Sox and was traded twice after the season.

UCLA Smothers St. John's To Win Title

By DICK COUCH

Lew Alcindor and the awesome UCLA Bruins made a shambles of their Holiday Festival title game against St. John's, N.Y., while North Carolina's Charlie Scott and Kansas' Jo Jo Whites, two of America's Olympic basketball standouts, also sparkled in tournament play.

But Detroit supersoph Spencer Haywood, brightest of the U.S. cage stars at the Mexico City Olympic Games, was eclipsed by the Minnesota Gophers ... and a guy named Mikan.

Alcindor, UCLA's amazing, 7-foot-1½ All American, led the unbeaten, top-ranked Bruins past St. John's 74-56 with a 30-point, 22-rebound performance for the ECAC Holiday Festival championship at New York Monday night.

Scott teamed with 6-foot-9 Rusty Clark to pace fourth-ranked North Carolina in a 103-76 conquest of Princeton for third place in the Madison Square Garden classic and White, whose college eligibility runs out next month, helped fifth-ranked Kansas trim Oklahoma State 56-45 in the title game of the Big Eight Conference tournament at Kansas City.

At Minneapolis, Larry Mikan, the son of former All American George Mikan, a Hall of Famer and the commissioner of the American Basketball Association, led the unranked Gophers to an 85-80 victory over previously unbeaten, seventh-ranked Detroit ... despite a 34-point spree by the 6-foot-8 Haywood.

Mikan put in 29 points and grabbed 16 rebounds as Minnesota ended the Titans' winning string at 10 games.

Sixth-ranked Santa Clara came on strong in the second half to whip Columbia 64-58 and win the fifth annual Rainbow Classic at Honolulu, Hawaii. It was the 10th straight victory for the unbeaten Broncos, who were paced by Dennis Awtrey's 27 points.

Ninth-ranked Villanova, beaten by North Carolina in the first round of the Holiday Festival, took fifth place with a 70-65 victory over Holy Cross.

But six of the other nationally ranked teams in action, including No. 17 St. John's, were upended.

South Carolina knocked off 11th ranked LaSalle 62-59 in the final of the Quaker City Classic at Philadelphia and No. 15 Duquesne bowed to Louisiana State 94-91 in the title game of the All College Tournament at Oklahoma City after the host team downed No. 20 St. Bonaventure 81-71 for third place.

Washington topped No. 13 Ohio State 64-59 at Columbus and Butler ambushed No. 18 New Mexico 81-80 in overtime at Indianapolis.

Of the eight clubs in the second ten who played, only 14th ranked Louisville, which rolled past North Texas State 86-73 at home for its eighth victory without a loss, and 16th ranked Notre Dame, which smashed American University 92-67 at Baltimore, emerged unscathed.

Alcindor, playing in his native New York for the last time as a collegian, dominated the Festival final with his scoring, rebounding and shot blocking as UCLA zipped to its 24th straight victory and 71st in 72 games. The Bruins' Kenny Heitz limited St. John's ace John Warren to six points before a Madison Square Garden throng of 19,500.

Scott popped in 22 points ... two less than Clark ... as the Tar Heels semifinal upset victims of St. John's, captured consolation honors by racing past Princeton for their eighth victory in nine starts.

Dave Robisch, a 6-foot-0 sophomore, scored 22 points—10 of them in succession at the start of the second half—and floor general White added 16 in Kansas' Big Eight triumph over the Cowboys. The Jayhawks, 11-1, have won the tournament nine times.

Howard Porter, Villanova's touted, 6-foot-8 soph, erupted for 31 points—20 in the second half—as the Wildcats, 7-1, slipped past Holly Cross.

John Roche triggered South Carolina to its Quaker City triumph with 24 points as a team from outside Philadelphia took the title for only the second year in the tourney's eight-year history.

Pistol Pete Maravich, LSU's torrid-shooting All American, equaled the All College single game scoring mark with a 53-point binge that toppled the previously unbeaten Iron Dukes. Texas A&M's Benny Lenox set the mark in 1963. Rich Travis' 33 points led Oklahoma City past the Bonnies.

Washington scrambled past the Buckeyes behind a hot ... 60 per cent ... first half from the field and the over-all shooting of forward George Irvine, who finished with 23 points. Butler wiped out a seven-point deficit in regulation play and shaded New Mexico behind Steve Norris' 19 points.

Butch Beard fired in 18 of his 25 points in the first half and Louisville went on a 13-0 tear in the second half to bounce North Texas. Norte Dame, 7-2, overwhelmed American U., with soph Austin Carr putting in 21 points to lead the assault.

Takes No. 2 Spot Behind UCLA

Davidson New Challenger

By The Associated Press

The powerful UCLA Bruins, winners of the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York, return home to Los Angeles this week with their unbeaten slate intact and with a new challenger for their No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press' college basketball poll.

The latest No. 2 team is Davidson, also undefeated, and a replacement for North Carolina, which tumbled to fourth place after being upset by St. John's of New York in the Madison Squaren Garden tournament's semifinal round.

UCLA, which downed the Redmen 74-56 in the ECAC final Monday night, collected all 40 votes for first place in the latest balloting by sports writers and broadcasters based on games through last Saturday. The Bruins had defeated Providence and Princeton to reach the final round.

Davidson advanced one notch after downing Maryland and Texas last week while Kentucky, a 110-90 winner over Notre Dame, also climbed one position to third.

UCLA's next game is at home against Tulane Saturday night.

Davidson next takes on Michigan Tuesday and then St. John's of New York Saturday. Kentucky plays Wisconsin Tuesday and Mississippi Saturday and North Carolina's next start is against Duke Saturday.

The most rapid advances in the poll's Top Ten were made by Kansas, Santa Clara, Detroit and Illinois. Kansas, in fifth place and Santa Clara, sixth, each soared three places while Detroit and Illinois both moved up four places to seventh and eighth, respectively.

Villanova, beaten by North Carolina in the Holiday Festival's opening round, slipped from fifth to ninth and Cincinnati, winner over North Texas in its only game last week, remained in 10th spot.

Duquesne, No. 15, St. John's, No. 17 and Northwestern, No. 19, are the new teams in the Second Ten. Dropping out of the rankings were Purdue, Wyoming and Tennessee. The Boilermakers lost to Columbia, Wyoming to Louisiana State and the Volunteers were not scheduled last week.

The top 20, with first-place votes, season records through games of Sat. Dec. 28 and total points:

Midland Drops Out, Farrell 1st

Midland, suffering two losses last week, dropped out of the Top 10 teams in the WPIAL as determined by the Turk Pierce Rating System.

Montour also dropped out, and Butler and Munhall moved in. Farrell is still the leader by a wide margin, and Aliquippa and Ambridge, along with Butler, complete a quartet of Section 3 teams in the Top 10. Section 5, with Baldwin, Duquesne and Munhall, has three teams.

Peabody is still the top-rated team in Pittsburgh, but Laurel of Lawrence County has taken over the top spot among Class B teams from Rankin.

Team	Section	Rating
1. Farrell	3	95.5
2. Penn Hills	8	88.0
3. Aliquippa	3	83.0
4. Highlands	1	82.0

Bluebonnet Bowl Tonight Launches New Year's Schedule

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Houston, coming back down to earth after the sensational show by the three Apollo 8 astronauts, gets a crance to blast off again tonight when it hosts the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl between Southern Methodist and Oklahoma.

That will be the appetizer setting the stage for the big New Year's Day menu of Bowl games—the Rose at Pasadena matching Southern California and Ohio State; the Cotton at Dallas with Tennessee facing Texas; the Sugar at New Orleans with Georgia against Arkansas; and the Orange at Miami with Penn State against Kansas.

Two more games are scheduled for Saturday with North and South squads clashing in the Hula Bowl at Honolulu, Hawaii and in the American Bowl at Tampa, Fla.

The week's post-season action got started Monday night in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta where Louisiana State rallied behind Mike Hillman's quarterbacking to beat Florida State 31-27.

Hillman drove the Tigers downfield in the final minutes, completing two key passes and taking off on a 14-yard run to set up Maruice LeBlanc's three-yard plunge for the game-winning touchdown.

An overflow crowd of 60,000 is expected in the Astrodome tonight for the Astro-Bluebonnet which has succumbed to Mother Nature and moved indoors following nine weather-troubled years in Rice Stadium.

Oklahoma and SMU both logged 7-3 records during the regular season and feature explosive offenses.

"Both teams ought to ring the scoring bell a few times," said Chuck Fairbanks, Oklahoma's coach. The Sooners won five straight games after a so-so start and Hayden Fry, SMU's coach, insists that Fairbanks' club has developed into possibly the best team in the nation.

"Oklahoma became a great team because of its balance on offense and defense," said Fry. "Ohio State is not as good on defense."

USC and explosive O.J. Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner, will find out just how good Ohio State's defense is in the Rose Bowl Wednesday. O. J. will have running competition from the Buckeyes' Jim Otis, a tough fullback, and rollout quarterback Rex Kern.

In the Orange Bowl, third-ranked Penn State would figure to be a major problem but the Nittany Lions will have to go some to give Kansas any more headaches than the Jayhawks encountered in their own conference—the tough Big Eight.

Three Big Eight teams—Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma—all won bowl bids and Missouri whacked Alabama in the Gator showdown 35-10 last Saturday.

"Through better recruiting and better coaching, the Big Eight has been brought into balance," said Charlie McCullers, Kansas' offensive coach. "The rivalries are tough and cold-blooded now from top to bottom."

Kansas survived the tough Conference with a 9-1 record to set the stage for the meeting with unbeaten Penn State, 10-0.

Tennessee may have some surprises in store for Texas in the Cotton Bowl. "New wrinkles," was what Doug Dickey, coach of the Volunteers, called them.

"We won't have anything drastic for Texas, but we'll try to have something different," said Dickey. "I'd be surprised if there was a whole lot of offense. I doubt the game will be completely wide open." said Darrell Royal, coach of fifth-ranked Texas He said his club would "stay with the basics."

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles was struggling with how to deal with Georgia's tough defense in the Sugar Bowl. The Bulldogs had the best defensive statistics in the country this season.

"I thought when I left Georgia Tech, I wouldn't have to worry about playing Georgia again," said Broyles, who was a top quarterback and later an assistant coach at Tech.

Georgia's defense will have plenty to do against Broyles' club. "Arkansas has a tremendous offense," said Georgia Coach Vince Dooley, "certainly the best we've seen."

McKinley Top Rated In E. Ohio

Canton McKinley, which has lost only to unbeaten Farrell, is the leader among Eastern Ohio teams this week according to the Turk Pierce Rating System.

East Liverpool remained eighth on the Eastern Ohio list and is still the top-rated team in the Review circulation area. The Potters dropped .6 points after their narrow win over Pittsburgh Fifth Avenue.

Champion, last week's leader, remains unbeaten, but fell to fifth. McKinley has a narrow lead over unbeaten Canton Lehman. Struthers replaces Steubenville Central, which lost to Coshocton, in the Top 10. Wheeling remains the top-rated team in the West Virginia Panhandle.

W. Beaver Claims 3rd Straight In Overtime

Western Beaver, after suffering four setbacks, rolled to its third straight victory, a 63-62 overtime victory at the expense of Shadyside Academy of Pittsburgh Monday night on the Western Beaver floor.

A foul shot by Ron Misorski with less than a minute to play in the overtime period proved to be the margin of victory after Chuck Kelker and Chuck Barrickman had scored baskets in the overtime session.

Shadyside tied the score at 58-58 at the end of regulation time on a foul shot by Barry Orlove.

The contest was nip and tuck throughout with Shadyside outscoring Western Beaver 17-10 in the fourth quarter to tie the game.

Barry Dawson was the big gun for Western with 19 points but was joined in the double figure column by John Petchel and Barrickman with 13 each while Kelker added 12. Orlove topped Shadyside with 17 points.

Western shot 49 per cent from the field and Shadyside 37.

Western Beaver's reserve squad won a 55-48 double overtime victory in the preliminary contest.

Junior Editors Quiz on ICE CREAM

QUESTION: Who invented ice cream?

* * * * *

ANSWER: Ice was a great luxury for the ancient peoples, especially for those who lived in warm climates. They could not make ice, but they could and did bring blocks of ice down from the mountains. It is known that the Romans made water ices. Marco Polo, coming home from his famous trip to the Far East, is supposed to have brought a recipe for adding milk to water ices, making a kind of ice cream. But it was the Italians who really started ice cream on its way. For a long time they had used ice brought down from the mountains; about 1550, someone discovered that if salt was added to ice it would become colder, and that milk and flavoring could be frozen by it. At first, this delicious dish was reserved by European chefs for the nobility, but the secret soon leaked out. In America, ice cream was known in the early 1700's but its use was rare until Dolly Madison served it in the White House in 1809. After 1900, it became America's favorite dessert.

(Casey Gwinn of Mt. Herman, Calif., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Junior Editors Quiz on ICE CREAM

QUESTION: Who invented ice cream?

* * * * *

ANSWER: Ice was a great luxury for the ancient peoples, especially for those who lived in warm climates. They could not make ice, but they could and did bring blocks of ice down from the mountains. It is known that the Romans made water ices. Marco Polo, coming home from his famous trip to the Far East, is supposed to have brought a recipe for adding milk to water ices, making a kind of ice cream. But it was the Italians who really started ice cream on its way. For a long time they had used ice brought down from the mountains; about 1550, someone discovered that if salt was added to ice it would become colder, and that milk and flavoring could be frozen by it. At first, this delicious dish was reserved by European chefs for the nobility, but the secret soon leaked out. In America, ice cream was known in the early 1700's but its use was rare until Dolly Madison served it in the White House in 1809. After 1900, it became America's favorite dessert.

(Casey Gwinn of Mt. Herman, Calif., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)
